Marin Supervisors Adopt 'Oregon' Gasoline Proposal

New Marketing Plan Will Start On Monday

By MARY LEYDECKER

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today unanimously approved voluntary "Oregon plan" for gasoline sales in the county — a plan drawn up by the Marin County Independent Service Station Operators Association.

The new marketing plan is to go into effect next Monday.

Under the scheme, motorists with odd-number license plates may buy gasoline on the odd-numbered days of the month Monday through Friday. Those with even-numbered plates will take their turn on the even-numbered days.

On Saturdays anyone may buy gasoline.

Car owners who have personalized plates with no numbers will be considered odd-numbered.

No gasoline will be sold on Sundays.

"Bona fide" out-of-state tourists will be exempt from the plan as will emergency vehicles, which may get gasoline any day.

People carrying cans will be given no more than two gallons of gasoline.

Art Baptiste, president of the Marin independent dealers association, said that he expected 98 per cent of the county's independent dealers to support the plan.

(Baptiste also told the Independent-Journal that he had been told that at least one company, Standard Oil, which operates some of its own stations, also will go along with the scheme in Marin.)

The dealers intend to find out if setting a $3 minimum limit for gasoline purchases is legal, according to Baptiste, and if not, the dealers in Marin will follow the state's half-tank plan, he said.

In response to vociferous demands from members of the audience, Baptiste and Robert Moore, association executive secretary, said dealers will post signs indicating sales hours and "if possible," signs giving any sales limits.

Moore warned, though, that dealers may have to revise their maximum sales from day to day to stretch their allocations.

The Supervisors also allocated $1,000 to match a $1,000 allocation from the dealers to advertise the plan and to urge motorists to cut down on driving "because plan or no plan there is a shortage."

Mill Valley Mayor Jean S. Barnard said her city council had encountered another problem with the long lines of cars waiting outside stations — neighboring businesses are suffering. She said the council will consider an emergency ordinance requiring dealers to pay for uniformed traffic control officers to avert this.

Board Chairman Michael Wornum objected, "I think that's extremely unfair" but Mrs. Barnard insisted that dealers are better able to "pay $5.50 per hour" for patrolmen than are the cities.

Francis X. O'Connell, director for the county employees association charged that the dealers "are overlooking the consumer. A few months ago they were giving away glasses. . . the customer is entitled to know what they're getting in line for" in terms of the dealer's maximum sale, sales hours and the like.

"That's a lot of baloney," answered Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who has worked closely with the dealers on the plan. "Do you think we're spending all this time in discussions for 160 dealers" or the Marin consumer.

The dealers refused to consider any organized plan of staggering business hours, saying it would not help cut down lines. They also said they had to take care of their "regular customers," which might not be possible under staggered hours.

The presentation today to the board of supervisors came after a meeting last night of the service station operators. Baptiste said that about half the association's 150 members attended as well as a few independent operators who do not belong to the association. (He estimated that about 20 to 25 dealers in the county are not members.)

He said there was general agreement in adopting the voluntary plan.

Meanwhile in Sonoma County, where the odd-even plan is already in effect, motorists still found long lines at any open gasoline stations this morning.

As in Marin, most stations were only open for short periods today, and any station selling gasoline had long lines of waiting cars.

The gasoline crunch continued to cut back commute traffic on Highway 101 and increase patronage of the Golden Gate Transit buses. A spokesman said the bus usage is increasing each day, along with problems. He said "problems are getting worse" with many standees on the commute buses.

Transit Board Opposes Ferry Use Of Gas Money

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Transit District board voted unanimously today to oppose a proposal from the Golden Gate Bridge District staff that a portion of Marin's gas tax revenues be used to subsidize ferries rather than buses.

At issue is how the bridge district, which operates commute buses and ferries to San Francisco as well as local buses in Marin, wants to use the county's $1.35 million share of gas tax revenues.

The Legislature two years ago authorized returning a percentage of the sales tax on gasoline to communities for transit purposes.)

The bridge district staff wants to use about $123,000 of Marin's share to offset cost of running ferries between Marin and San Francisco.

Impeachers Want Nixon Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee instructed its special impeachment counsel today to ask Judge John J. Sirica for a sealed report said to pertain to President Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandal.

The committee specified to special counsel John M. Doar that he was not to submit the committee to jurisdiction of Sirica's federal district court in asking for the material given the judge by a federal grand jury Friday.

The committee put off until Thursday or Friday any decision on whether to issue a subpoena for presidential material requested from the White House on Feb. 25.

The Judiciary Committee's chairman, Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the President's chief attorney on Watergate matters, James D. St. Clair, had sent the committee a three-paragraph note last night saying a decision would be made tomorrow on the response to the committee's request.

The White House failure to respond to the request for more than a week had irritated some Republican and Democratic committee members. Some had been prepared to urge during a meeting with impeachment inquiry staff today that subpoenas be issued for the material.

The committee's special counsel, John M. Doar, said before making the initial request that it should not take St. Clair very long to comply.

After stating yesterday that he had received no response, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., signaled committee frustration over the White House silence when he said: "In my judgment it's been a reasonable time. It's been eight days."

Rodino didn't mention subpoenas but other committee members said that would be a prime issue today when the impeachment inquiry staff gives the 38 committee members a briefing on what has

Belvedere Councilman Ruddock Tenders Surprise Resignation

By LEW CODDINGTON

Voters in Belvedere may be selecting three city councilmen today, instead of two, as a result of a surprising turn of events at last night's council meeting. (Another Belvedere City Council story, page 3.)

Councilman Merritt K. Ruddock last night announced his resignation, effective today, and the council recommended that the newly-elected council choose the third-place finisher in today's election as his successor.

Two years remain on Ruddock's four-year term. The council could have chosen a successor last night, but decided to let the new council do it, according to Mayor Allan Steinau. The new council will have 30 days from today to make its choice.

Six candidates are running for the seats vacated by Steinau, Willard G. Pittman and now Ruddock. They are Charles E. Auerbach, Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, Barbara J. Egoian, Sherry C. Levit, William E. Steen and William H. Rafter.

The tall, white-haired Ruddock, 60, resigned to be free to travel overseas for Almar Exploration Ltd., a San Francisco-based mining firm in which he is a general partner.

Ruddock missed the two council meetings prior to last night after contracting pneumonia in Liberia while working for Almar, but said ill health was not a factor in his decision to resign. "I've shaken it off now," he said, adding he might return to Liberia after getting a doctor's approval.

Ruddock was a councilman for 10 years, including two years as mayor, 1964-66. A Belvedere resident since 1958, he served on the city's planning commission from 1960 through 1964.

He was born in the U.S. Embassy in Berlin, Germany, graduated from Harvard University, and is an Army veteran of World War II.

After his announcement the council met in closed session for about 45 minutes before deciding to appoint no one and leave the matter to the new council.

Confidence Vote Given Golda Meir

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Prime Minister Golda Meir's Labor party gave her an overwhelming vote of confidence tonight in her bid to set up a new minority government.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan refused to comply, however, and the 75-year-old prime minister did not get the full unity she had sought. Dayan's action meant she still might resign.

"If Golda removes herself it will create a severe crisis for the state," the party's general secretary, Aharon Yadlin, warned. "Up until this time I don't know whether she will retract her decision."

The party's central committee climaxed a seven-hour stormy meeting by voting 238-7 with 45 abstentions in favor of establishing a minority government with the possible later inclusion of the National Religious party (NRP) so a majority can be formed similar to the present caretaker government.

Witness Says Vesco Sought His Influence

NEW YORK (UPI) — A key government witness, Harry L. Sears, testified today that a fugitive financier with whom John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans are charged with conspiring to obstruct justice had once tried to get Sears to influence a federal judge.

The attempt came, Sears testified, when the financier, Robert L. Vesco, brought suit against the Securities and Exchange Commission in 1971 to bar the commission from getting certain documents in its massive investigation of his operations.

The SEC investigation began in March 1971. Sears, a friend of Mitchell and Republican political leader in New Jersey, testified that Vesco told him about the suit in May.

"Mr. Vesco said he had serious concern about suing the U.S. government —that it might be detrimental to his interests —and he asked if I knew the judge assigned to the case," Sears testified.

"I told him I did not."

"Mr. Vesco said he would like to let the judge know 'that I am not a bad guy just because I am suing the U.S. government' and he said, 'Maybe you know somebody that knows the judge.'"

Sears said that he replied that he knew nobody.

In further conversations at a later date , "Mr. Vesco asked if I had found somebody to get a good word for him to the judge."

"I told him I had not. He was very persistent for me to do something to help him."

His testimony was cut short by legal argument and a luncheon break.

Mitchell, former attorney general in the Nixon administration, and Stans, former Commerce Secretary, are accused of conspiring, obstructing justice and lying under oath in an alleged attempt to impede the SEC investigation of Vesco. Vesco and Sears were charged with obstructing justice along with the two former cabinet members but Vesco fled the country and Sears' case was severed. He testified today under a grant of immunity given by Federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi on the application of the government.

Simon Sees No Summer Gas Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal energy director William E. Simon, cheered by hints the Arab oil embargo might end soon, scoffed today at "the preachers of doom" who forecast serious gasoline shortages this spring and summer.

Simon said the "instant experts" were wrong about utility blackouts, freezing homes and soaring unemployment last winter, and predicted they will be wrong about dire shortages in warm weather.

The American Automobile Association, in its weekly survey of more than 5,000 service stations nationwide, reported that waiting lines were shorter this week because of increased allocations to some states, but that "over-all fuel supplies appeared to be the tightest since the energy crunch began."

It said an average of 20 per cent of all stations were closed for lack of gasoline.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reported to President Nixon the morning after his return last night from his fourth Middle East peace mission.

The White House refused comment on the prospects for an early end to the embargo.

Authoritative government sources, anticipating a possible breakthrough at a meeting of Arab oil ministers in Tripoli, Libya, next Sunday, said that if the embargo "comes off, it will come off completely."

Other officials said that if the embargo ends, the price of crude oil would drop sharply at Arab wellheads, from $10 or more a barrel to about $7, but it would take several weeks for Arab oil shipments to reach the United States and its refineries.

Initiative On Fairfax Police Seen

The Fairfax Police Officers Association apparently has collected more than enough signatures to force an initiative ballot issue on police pay, City Clerk Eileen Foster said today.

The association, seeking to set police pay at a level no lower than the average wage paid by other police agencies in the county, collected 529 signatures in a drive that began last November.

Mrs. Foster said only 427 signatures are needed to place the matter on the ballot. She added, however, that signatures turned in yesterday by the association must be verified.

Association president Mel L. Dollahite launched the initiative ballot measure drive last year with a declaration that such a measure is needed to give voters "the opportunity to establish a fair method of arriving at a competitive salary for Fairfax police officers."

He said then that Fairfax officers were among the lowest paid in the county.

Mrs. Foster said that the petitions will be presented to the city council at 8 p.m. March 11.

POW Exchange

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government said today Saigon and the Viet Cong have agreed to complete their long-delayed exchange of war prisoners within 24 hours.

A government spokesman said South Vietnam promised to release its last 163 pro-Communist POWs to the Viet Cong Wednesday at the de facto Communist capital of Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon.

He said the Viet Cong would turn over 90 government soldiers and 25 civilians to South Vietnamese authorities at two field positions.

Report 'False'

DAMASCUS (UPI) — A Washington report of an alleged plot to assassinate Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger during his visit to Damascus last week "is fabricated and devoid of truth," sources close to the government said today.

According to the Washington report, American officials "learned" in Damascus that there was a plot to assassinate Kissinger during one of his two visits to the Syrian capital. The report did not say who was supposed to be behind the plot.

"This report is fabricated and devoid of truth," the Syrian sources said. "We are astonished that such a report should come out of Washington."

Johnson Papers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the LBJ library says President Johnson donated only a fraction of his 31 million career papers to the government before he died, and the rest were willed to the government without tax benefits to his heirs.

Library Director Harry J. Middleton, in response to a weekend report that Johnson took between $10 and $29 million in deductions, said yesterday the late President deducted from his taxes the value of about only 200,000 of the documents.

Snipers Fire

CORDOBA, Argentina (UPI) — Snipers opened intermittent fire against police and radio stations today, forcing pedestrians and motorists to flee the downtown area and newsmen and photographers to fall to the ground for cover.

The renewed fighting broke out as rightist unionists, supporting the police chief in a rebellion against the provincial governor, lifted a general strike which paralyzed Argentina's third largest city since Wednesday.

Ireland View

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Britain's new Labor Party government bodes ill for Protestant militant hopes of reasserting political domination of Northern Ireland, political sources said today.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor Party is even more committed to Protestant-Roman Catholic power sharing in Northern Ireland than was Edward Heath's Conservative government, the sources said.

Protestant militants who won 11 of 12 Northern Ireland parliamentary seats in last week's British general election have no chance of winning from a Labor government the demands they have made, they said.

New Anti-Semitism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith said today a new form of anti-Semitism is appearing in the world.

The conclusion was drawn in an ADL-sponsored report written by Arnold Foster, the League's associate director and general counsel, and Benjamin R. Epstein, ADL's national director.

They said the new form of anti-Semitism, differs from the traditional in that it is not necessarily deliberate and is often "expressed by respected individuals and institutions."

The study cited these examples: A piece in the Christian Science Monitor which the ADL report saw as a defense of the Arab stand during the October war; columns by syndicated writers "consistently hostile" to Israel, with a sermon by an Episcopal clergyman labeling Israelis as "oppressors."

Two Alka-Seltzers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alka-Seltzer, under attack since last year by Ralph Nader researchers who said its aspirin content threatened ulcer victims, will soon be on the market in two formulas — with and without aspirin.

Miles Laboratories Inc., said the change was designed in part to answer criticism from Nader's Health Research Group, which earlier told the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) the present with-aspirin formula should be banned.

But Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the research group, said the new approach is still inadequate. He said the FDA should still take Alka-Seltzer with aspirin off the market, and subject the non-aspirin variety to scrutiny to make sure it does what it claims to.

Wilson Chooses Labor Cabinet

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today named a Labor cabinet, balanced evenly between leftwingers and moderates, with the immediate task of ending the 3 ½-week-old coal miners' strike, getting Britain back to a five-day work week and ending the economic crisis.

A bare 15 hours in office, Wilson showed up early at his No. 10 Downing St. office, posed chewing on a pipe for photographers, interviewed a succession of new ministers and then announced his cabinet.

Then he began talks with leaders of the 10 million-member Trades Union Congress (TUC) and the Confederation of British Industry, which represents 12,000 industrial firms.

The key appointment in the economic hot seat was Denis Healey, 56, named chancellor of the exchequer.

Healey, defense secretary in Wilson's last 1964-70 administration, will have the job of trying to curb rocketing inflation and to hand the nation a crisis budget before the end of the month.

But Michael Foot, 60, a one time rebel on the extreme leftwing of the Labor party, was named secretary for employment with the specific job of trying to end the coal strike.

Two other left wing "wild men" named to cabinet jobs were Anthony Wedgwood Benn, 47, appointed Secretary of State for Industry, and Peter Shore, 49, named Secretary of State for Trade.

Both are strong opponents of Britain's Common Market membership.

However, Wilson's office said James Callaghan, 62, who was named Foreign Secretary, will handle renegotiation of Britain's Market membership terms.

Roy Jenkins, 53, widely regarded as a successful chancellor of the exchequer during Wilson's last administration, was named home secretary, a job he also held earlier in Wilson's last government.

Eric Varley, 42, a little known Labor party member, was named secretary of state for energy.

Mrs. Barbara Castle, 61, employment secretry in Wilson's last government, was named secretary of state for social services.

Gromyko In Damascus; Prisoners Said Safe

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko arrived in Damascus today for his second visit in less than a week to complete Middle East discussions with President Hafez Assad of Syria.

Diplomatic sources in London said Gromyko's mission is part of a Soviet campaign to undercut the growing pro-American swing among the Arab states. Among other things, the sources said Moscow has offered Arab leaders longterm assistance and political backing.

In Washington, however, American officials expressed some concern that the political crisis in Israel could wreck Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's peace-seeking efforts.

Gromyko flew to Damascus from Cairo, ending an official visit to Egypt and talks with government leaders.

His Damascus talks, political sources said, will cover Middle East developments and current peace moves in the region.

The International Red Cross, meanwhile, said the 65 Israeli prisoners held by Syria are in good condition.

Michel Convere, an official of the organization, said in Tel Aviv that he presented a report yesterday to Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban based on Red Cross visits to the prisoners Friday.

"The mental and physical condition of the prisoners is good," Convere said. "Their morale is good."

He said some prisoners were recovering from wounds received at the time of their capture during the October war, but declined to give the number of wounded.

Plane Blast Held Fault Or A Bomb

PARIS (UPI) — Investigators say it appears likely an explosion resulting from a technical fault or a bomb caused the crash of a Turkish Airlines DC10 jetliner Sunday with the loss of all 344 persons aboard.

The U.S. embassy here said today that at least 22 Americans were among the dead.

The only Americans whose identities have been released were Wayne Wilcox, 41, cultural attache at the U.S. embassy in London, his wife, Ouida, and two of their four children, Kailan, 15, and Clark, 13.

Embassy consul Ruth McLendon said, "We don't know exactly how many Americans were on board because the passenger list does not name nationalities or even first names. But through telephone calls from family and friends we have established 22 names."

The secretary general of France's civil aviation board, Maurice Grimaud, told a television interviewer yesterday, "It looks like an explosion, criminal or technical, one or the other."

OAKLAND (UPI) — The personal papers, Senate files and scrap books of publisher and former U.S. Senator William F. Knowland have been left to the library of the University of California at Berkeley, his will showed yesterday.

Knowland recommended in the will that his son, Joseph, be named to succeed him in the No. 1 position of the Oakland Tribune.

Joseph W. Knowland has been serving as vice president and general manager of the daily newspaper. The will, filed Friday in Alameda Superior Court, also left $1,000 a month income for life to Knowland's first wife, Helen, and second wife, Anne. A hearing on the document will be held March 18. Knowland took his own life last month.

Vet Disability Benefit Increase Asked By Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has asked Congress to increase veterans' disability benefits by $432 million a year.

In a letter to the chairmen and ranking Republicans on the Senate and House Veterans Committees, Nixon recommended a 12 per cent increase in veterans disability payments and a 14 per cent increase in payments to the dependents of disabled veterans.

Nixon also recommended inclusion of an automatic cost of living increase in disabled veterans benefits based on the Consumer Price Index, as well as structural changes in the disability rating system whereby severely disabled former servicemen would receive higher benefits. The President estimated the total cost of the increases would be $432 million in the first full year.

Economy without cramps.

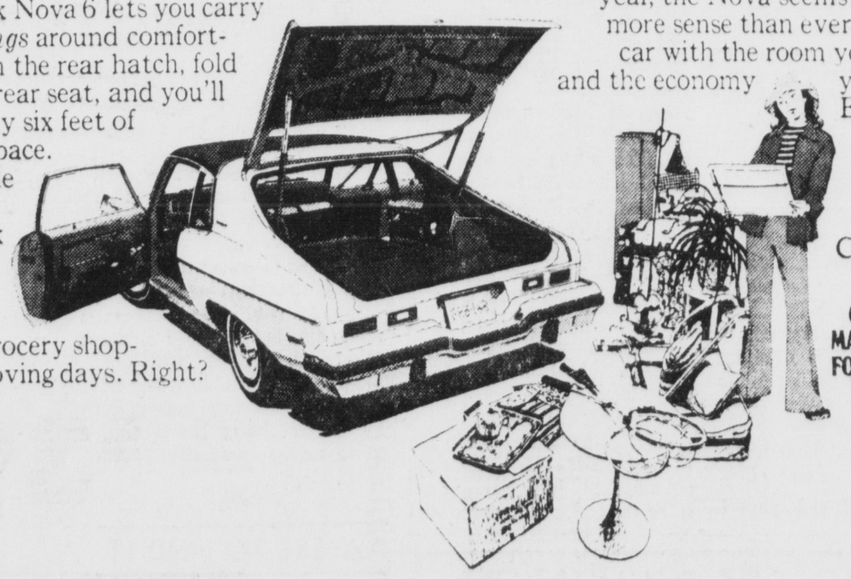
Buying a compact car with a six-cylinder engine can make a lot of room in your budget. If that compact car is an economical 1974 Chevy Nova 6, you'll also end up with a lot of room in your car. "Automotive Industries' Roominess Index" says no domestic compact at any price has more head and shoulder room, front and rear, than Nova. The roomy, economical Nova 6 comes in three versatile models.

The 2-Door Nova. The Chevy Nova basic transportation system. Few cars make as much sense as this one. It's small enough on the outside to be easy to park and drive, yet has enough room on the inside for six passengers. And it's as good-looking as it is sensible. The base price for this standard 2-door coupe (shown at left) is $2647.*

*Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price including dealer new vehicle preparation charge. Destination charges, optional equipment, state or local taxes are additional.

The 4-Door Nova
The Nova's rear seat is so roomy and comfortable some people like to get to it fast. The four-door version of the Nova 6 makes this easy. From this point on, the rear seat passengers are carried economically to their destination by Nova's proven six-cylinder engine. Just like passengers in other Nova models. You'll like Nova's sporty good looks, and like other Nova models, the four-door has traditionally maintained a high resale value.

The 3-Door Nova. You can carry people around comfortably in any economical Nova 6. The Hatchback Nova 6 lets you carry lots of things around comfortably. Open the rear hatch, fold down the rear seat, and you'll have nearly six feet of flat load space. Almost like having a wagon. Six flat feet are just what you need on grocery shopping or moving days. Right?



Chevrolet has been building and refining the Nova for thirteen years now, and this year, the Nova seems to make more sense than ever. It's the car with the room you want, and the economy you need. Economy without cramps. That's the 1974 Chevrolet Nova 6.

COUNCIL PAY ON BALLOT IN LARKSPUR

Larkspur voters, in addition to electing two city councilmen today, will be deciding whether council members will be paid.

Measure A on the city's ballot asks the voters to approve paying councilmen $50 per meeting, to a maximum of $150 per month. Only a simple majority is required for approval, according to the city clerk's office.

Although the measure was ordered placed on today's ballot by the city council last July, it was overlooked by the county elections office until yesterday, in reporting to the Independent-Journal what measures were to be on city ballots in Marin County.

Coroner Challenges Story About Retirement Status

Marin County Coroner Donovan O. Cooke has taken issue with several statements in a Feb. 18 article on his pension status under the county retirement system.

In a letter dated Feb. 27 to the Independent-Journal, Dr. Cooke said the I-J article, which reported that he may reap a pension windfall, was in error in several places.

Subsequent investigation by the I-J showed Cooke was correct in saying his job was not changed from full-time to half time in the current budget. It was changed from half time to full time.

The coroner said he joined the retirement system in 1967 and not 1969 as reported. Payroll records in the county auditor-controller's office used by the I-J showed 1969 but when reviewed yesterday were found to be in error.

Cooke said it is not necessary for him to win reelection to take advantage of the county's retirement system. The retirement system requires 10 years service; Cooke has eight years and conceivably could be hired by the county or state in another capacity if not reelected, thus gaining eligibility.

He said his $17,196 per-year-salary is not out of line, based on pay raises given other county officials. According to figures obtained by the auditor-controller's office, had Cooke remained simply coroner since 1967 and not assumed other duties (which he subsequently gave up) his salary would be about $16,000 today.

He said he did not when running for office promise full time service to the county as coroner to the exclusion of his private practice, which, as reported, he continues to maintain in Belvedere.

Commenting on the report of dissension within the health services department prior to his resignation last year as director, Cooke correctly noted there had been dissension before he was brought into the department.

Space Needle's First Jumper

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Paul D. Baker, 29, Columbus, Ohio, borrowed money, took a ride up an elevator at the Seattle Space Needle and jumped 520 feet last night to become the Needle's first suicide.

Baker had been living here for two months, the King County medical examiner's office said.

The Space Needle, which measures 607 feet to its point, was built in 1962 as the symbol of the Seattle World's Fair.

The Space Needle Restaurant is located just below the observation deck from which Baker jumped and several persons eating at the restaurant saw Baker as he shot by their window.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors voted yesterday to limit pay increases for 15,000 city employees to between 2 per cent and 7.5 per cent.

Denial Of Fill Permit Is Sought

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The federal Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife has recommended that the Army Corps of Engineers deny a fill permit sought by Samuel W. Gardiner of Greenbrae, an Army spokesman reported yesterday.

The bureau, an agency of the Interior Department, suggested that Gardiner may be able to work out a compromise on his plans. He seeks to fill 2.6 acres of his property at Point San Quentin with 31,000 cubic yards of material and to legitimize previous fill operations that lacked a permit. In his application filed last October, Gardiner also sought approval for 5.7 acres that he had previously filled with 57,000 cubic yards of material.

The former superior court judge said he began the fill project in 1972 without knowledge that an Army permit is required.

The Army today was planning to notify Gardiner that the permit cannot be issued without an agreement with the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Marin Rod and Gun Club, and Angela Stepherson of Corte Madera submitted protests against the fill last October.

Belvedere Will Join Regional Sewer Unit

The Belvedere City Council ended weeks of discussion with one swift vote last night, unanimously choosing to join other southern Marin cities in building a joint sewage treatment plant at Point San Quentin. (Another Belvedere City Council story, page 1.)

Taking the matter out of order on the agenda, the council voted quickly so it could inform the Tiburon Sanitary District, meeting at the same time, of its decision.

Specifically, the council rejected the sewage treatment proposal of a private firm, Bio-Kinetics of San Rafael, and agreed to join the Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency.

"There is an engineering question if Bio-Kinetics is suitable," said Councilman David E. Bordon. "Can they meet our peak flows? If not, we'll have raw sewage pouring into the Bay."

The subregional agency would be less expensive for Belvedere homeowners, costing 52 cents per $100 assessed valuation compared to 68 cents under Bio-Kinetics, according to John Carollo Engineers of Walnut Creek.

The council's rejection of Bio-Kinetics also constituted a rejection of other possible alternatives to the subregional agency, said Councilman Thomas S. Price. This presumably would include Zim-Pro, a subsidiary of Sterling Drugs, which was an early candidate.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

CORRESPONDENCE — Acknowledged receipt of letters from Mrs. Kenneth A. Frost, praising the city's dog obedience program, and Mrs. John P. Hagen, opposing proposed tennis courts on Lagoon Road.

BOUNDARY — Approved realignment of the boundary line at 6 Bay View Avenue, the Alexander L. Mazour residence.

ATHLETICS — Allocated $142 to hire an instructor to run an outdoor after-school athletic program 1½ hours a day, three days a week at Reed School.

ACACIA — Unanimously reaffirmed its Feb. 3 decision not to improve the street in front of upper Acacia Avenue, requesting instead that repairs be made by the nearby property owners.

APPRAISAL — Referred to its finance committee the matter of whether or not an appraisal of city property, estimated to cost $1,300, should be made before the city seeks additional insurance.

DOGS — Referred to its park and recreation commission the question of proposed increases in dog license fees and extension of the licensing period.

HIGHWAY — Voted 4-1, Mayor Allan Steinau dissenting, to endorse initiation by the State Highway Commission of proceedings to abandon the Tiburon Boulevard right-of-way between Stewart Drive and Main Street, after first finding out the fair market value of the land. Councilmen discussed ways of keeping the land from being obtained by developers. Originally it was to be used for relocation of Tiburon Boulevard.

SEWER — Authorized changes in the sewer system on Beach Road near Cove Road, at a cost not to exceed $2,000.

DRAINAGE — Directed the public works department to correct a drainage problem left in City Park after completion of landscaping by Cagwin and Dorward contractors of San Rafael.

APPEAL — Denied 4-0, Steinau abstaining, an appeal by Leslie W. Graham of 2 Crest Road of the Design Review Board's approval of a house across the street at 5 Crest Road.

EXEMPTION — Exempted Marin Enterprisers, an arm of Marin Aid To Retarded Children, from payment of the annual business license fee of $25.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 12, 1974.

COUNCIL PAY ON BALLOT IN LARKSPUR

Larkspur voters, in addition to electing two city councilmen today, will be deciding whether council members will be paid.

Measure A on the city's ballot asks the voters to approve paying councilmen $50 per meeting, to a maximum of $150 per month. Only a simple majority is required for approval, according to the city clerk's office.

Although the measure was ordered placed on today's ballot by the city council last July, it was overlooked by the county elections office until yesterday, in reporting to the Independent-Journal what measures were to be on city ballots in Marin County.

Coroner Challenges Story About Retirement Status

Marin County Coroner Donovan O. Cooke has taken issue with several statements in a Feb. 18 article on his pension status under the county retirement system.

In a letter dated Feb. 27 to the Independent-Journal, Dr. Cooke said the I-J article, which reported that he may reap a pension windfall, was in error in several places.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air
Nitrogen, clean air
Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, light air pollution.
San Jose, significant air pollution.
Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Mailliard Office To Remain Open

The San Rafael and San Francisco offices of former Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-San Francisco, will remain open to serve the public until a successor is qualified, presumably after the special election is held in June.

The staff will remain as employees of the clerk of the House of Representatives.

A decision also was expected today on whether Doar should be sent to U.S. District Court tomorrow to participate in a meeting with Chief Judge John J. Sirica, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and St. Clair on the sealed report filed by a grand jury last week and believed to pertain to Nixon's possible involvement in the alleged Watergate coverup.

Doar has urged the committee to avoid a confrontation with the White House and instead give St. Clair a reasonable time to turn the information over voluntarily. But Doar said it should take "only a day or two" for the material in the initial request to be assembled and delivered.

Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, second-ranking GOP member of the committee, said, "If there's any evidence of any delay or stalling or refusal" by the White House to comply with the request, "I don't think there's any question" that subpoenaes would be issued.

The full House has already voted subpoena power for the committee.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters that the President is still covinced he will not be impeached by the Democratic-controlled Congress.

As for the grand jury report, Ziegler said Nixon's chief Watergate counsel, James D. St. Clair, "will outline our position" at the 10 a. m. EDT hearing called tomorrow by Sirica. Attorneys from Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's staff also will be on hand.

"The President has made a decision," Ziegler said in response to a question.

The grand jury's secret report is said to deal with the President's handling of Watergate scandal.

Ziegler said in reply to questions that Nixon telephoned his former chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, Friday, on the day Haldeman was indicted on Watergate charges. But Ziegler said the President made the call to congratulate Haldeman on his 25th wedding anniversary.

Ziegler also said:

He expects Nixon's message vetoing the emergency energy bill to be sent to Congress tomorrow.

White House aides have completed work on campaign reform legislation which will be submitted to Congress Friday.

Gas System Hurts Home Care Nurses

The gasoline shortage is "getting critical" for Marin Home Care nurses, who provide paramedical and visiting nurses services to patients in their home, the nonprofit agency's director said today.

Patricia Ferjancsik said that the odd-even distribution system will not help her nurses, who need to purchase gasoline frequently to make their calls.

The nurses are now spending "a horrible amount of time" waiting in lines for fuel, she said. They must make their home calls mainly in the morning, she explained, and often then run out of gas in the afternoon when most stations are closed.

The nurses, who provide seven-day-a-week home care and even work on holidays, face the worst problems after a "three-day drought" of gasoline on long weekends, Mrs. Ferjancsik said.

She said so far, she has not been able to line up a service station operator to fuel the nurses' cars regularly.

Actor In TV Series Is Dead

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Frank Wilcox, who played Mr. Brewster, the banker in the "Beverly Hillbillies" television series, died Sunday in the Oak Room Restaurant, of which he was an owner.

Wilcox, 66, appeared in 166 feature movies and was also seen on television as Elliott Ness' boss in "The Untouchables."

He served as honorary mayor of Granada Hills for 10 years and was on the board of directors of the Screen Actors Guild for three years. He began acting at the Pasadena Playhouse in 1937.

New Wells Ordered By Council

Rohnert Park will open two new wells during the next few months despite protests at last night's city council meeting from rural residents who fear the city's action will cause their own wells to run dry.

The controversial municipal wells are located south of the city, and a contract was awarded last night to the Novato drilling firm of Yates and Strong for installation of pumps, tanks, and pipelines at a cost of $103,745.

City Clerk Kathryn P. Logue said city officials hope to have the wells pumping by July 1 in order to prevent water rationing during the hot months when consumption reaches its yearly peak.

Rural well owners last night said they would prefer that Rohnert Park get its chief water supply from the proposed Russian River-Cotati intertie, an aquaduct system for Southern Sonoma which will not be completed until 1976 at the earliest.

Mrs. Logue said the well owners suggested that the city use its wells only as a backup system.

She said the council has decided to rely on groundwater rather than Russian River water because studies by federal, state and county agencies have shown that Rohnert Park's supply comes from a water basin different from the ones which supply residents in the surrounding countryside.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith refused to support the well proposal because he felt there was not enough assurance that the rural well owners would not be affected, the city clerk said.

After authorizing the well construction, the city council agreed to request that Cotati and Sonoma County join with Rohnert Park in financing an in-depth study of the underground water supply in Southern Sonoma.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

RESTAURANT — Authorized Avilla Enterprises to modify its previously approved planned unit development on Commerce Boulevard to substitute a luncheon restaurant for the service station originally approved.

BIDS — Called for bids on construction of irrigation systems at La Fiesta School and Ladybug Park, with the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District financing the work at the school site.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 7 p.m. Monday to consider business postponed last night because of the lengthy wells discussion.

TRANSIT

that during the planning of the bridge district's ferry system there was never any mention of the county subsidizing it.

During the current fiscal year, the county's share has been used for transportation planning, and purchase and operation of local buses.

The latest proposal, if approved by the bridge district board and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, which oversees use of the funds, would mean, in effect, local property tax payers would pay more for bus service or the service would be cut.

Transit directors, several of whom termed the proposal a "ripoff" and "a raid on county funds," voted to protest to the bridge district board on Friday.

Besides the $123,000 listed for ferries, the bridge district proposal also would allocate only $275,000 to help offset local bus costs whereas the county wants $337,000.

It includes nothing for local transit planning, which the county thinks should total $75,000.

Additionally, the staffs of the two districts are in disagreement over how much of the remaining $952,000 should be reserved for purchase of new buses, assuming the June tax rate election is successful.

The county wants $418,000 earmarked for local buses and the bridge district wants the entire $952,000 saved for subsidizing transbay buses.

The transit directors agreed to hold a special session next Tuesday to discuss the outcome of their protest to the bridge district board Friday.

Directors said if they are not successful Friday, they will consider approaching the Metropolitan Transportation Commission to settle the differences.

Insurance Rate Hike Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council has given the auto insurance industry permission to raise rates but ordered it to consider the fact that motorists are apparently driving less because of the fuel shortage.

Deputy director James W. McLane said highway deaths fell 23 per cent in January, an indication that motorists are driving slower and less frequently because of the shortage.

The council, in a two-page statement, also said a factor in its decision to end the moratorium on higher rates, begun Jan. 17, was evidence indicating auto insurance rates are actually lower when inflation is considered.

Mailliard Office To Remain Open

The San Rafael and San Francisco offices of former Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-San Francisco, will remain open to serve the public until a successor is qualified, presumably after the special election is held in June.

The staff will remain as employees of the clerk of the House of Representatives.

Gas System Hurts Home Care Nurses

The gasoline shortage is "getting critical" for Marin Home Care nurses, who provide paramedical and visiting nurses services to patients in their home, the nonprofit agency's director said today.

Patricia Ferjancsik said that the odd-even distribution system will not help her nurses, who need to purchase gasoline frequently to make their calls.

The nurses are now spending "a horrible amount of time" waiting in lines for fuel, she said. They must make their home calls mainly in the morning, she explained, and often then run out of gas in the afternoon when most stations are closed.

The nurses, who provide seven-day-a-week home care and even work on holidays, face the worst problems after a "three-day drought" of gasoline on long weekends, Mrs. Ferjancsik said.

She said so far, she has not been able to line up a service station operator to fuel the nurses' cars regularly.

A decision also was expected today on whether Doar should be sent to U.S. District Court tomorrow to participate in a meeting with Chief Judge John J. Sirica, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and St. Clair on the sealed report filed by a grand jury last week and believed to pertain to Nixon's possible involvement in the alleged Watergate coverup.

Doar has urged the committee to avoid a confrontation with the White House and instead give St. Clair a reasonable time to turn the information over voluntarily. But Doar said it should take "only a day or two" for the material in the initial request to be assembled and delivered.

Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, second-ranking GOP member of the committee, said, "If there's any evidence of any delay or stalling or refusal" by the White House to comply with the request, "I don't think there's any question" that subpoenaes would be issued.

The full House has already voted subpoena power for the committee.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters that the President is still covinced he will not be impeached by the Democratic-controlled Congress.

As for the grand jury report, Ziegler said Nixon's chief Watergate counsel, James D. St. Clair, "will outline our position" at the 10 a.m. EDT hearing called tomorrow by Sirica. Attorneys from Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's staff also will be on hand.

"The President has made a decision," Ziegler said in response to a question.

The grand jury's secret report is said to deal with the President's handling of Watergate scandal.

Ziegler said in reply to questions that Nixon telephoned his former chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, Friday, on the day Haldeman was indicted on Watergate charges. But Ziegler said the President made the call to congratulate Haldeman on his 25th wedding anniversary.

Ziegler also said:

He expects Nixon's message vetoing the emergency energy bill to be sent to Congress tomorrow.

White House aides have completed work on campaign reform legislation which will be submitted to Congress Friday.

Nixon will probably go to Key Biscayne, Fla., Friday for the weekend.

Insurance Rate Hike Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council has given the auto insurance industry permission to raise rates but ordered it to consider the fact that motorists are apparently driving less because of the fuel shortage.

Deputy director James W. McLane said highway deaths fell 23 per cent in January, an indication that motorists are driving slower and less frequently because of the shortage.

The council, in a two-page statement, also said a factor in its decision to end the moratorium on higher rates, begun Jan. 17, was evidence indicating auto insurance rates are actually lower when inflation is considered.

New Wells Ordered By Council

Rohnert Park will open two new wells during the next few months despite protests at last night's city council meeting from rural residents who fear the city's action will cause their own wells to run dry.

The controversial municipal wells are located south of the city, and a contract was awarded last night to the Novato drilling firm of Yates and Strong for installation of pumps, tanks, and pipelines at a cost of $103,745.

City Clerk Kathryn P. Logue said city officials hope to have the wells pumping by July 1 in order to prevent water rationing during the hot months when consumption reaches its yearly peak.

Rural well owners last night said they would prefer that Rohnert Park get its chief water supply from the proposed Russian River-Cotati intertie, an aquaduct system for Southern Sonoma which will not be completed until 1976 at the earliest.

Mrs. Logue said the well owners suggested that the city use its wells only as a backup system.

She said the council has decided to rely on groundwater rather than Russian River water because studies by federal, state and county agencies have shown that Rohnert Park's supply comes from a water basin different from the ones which supply residents in the surrounding countryside.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith refused to support the well proposal because he felt there was not enough assurance that the rural well owners would not be affected, the city clerk said.

After authorizing the well construction, the city council agreed to request that Cotati and Sonoma County join with Rohnert Park in financing an in-depth study of the underground water supply in Southern Sonoma.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

RESTAURANT — Authorized Avilla Enterprises to modify its previously approved planned unit development on Commerce Boulevard to substitute a luncheon restaurant for the service station originally approved.

BIDS — Called for bids on construction of irrigation systems at La Fiesta School and Ladybug Park, with the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District financing the work at the school site.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 7 p.m. Monday to consider business postponed last night because of the lengthy wells discussion.

that during the planning of the bridge district's ferry system there was never any mention of the county subsidizing it.

During the current fiscal year, the county's share has been used for transportation planning, and purchase and operation of local buses.

The latest proposal, if approved by the bridge district board and the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, which oversees use of the funds, would mean, in effect, local property tax payers would pay more for bus service or the service would be cut.

Transit directors, several of whom termed the proposal a "ripoff" and "a raid on county funds," voted to protest to the bridge district board on Friday.

Besides the $123,000 listed for ferries, the bridge district proposal also would allocate only $275,000 to help offset local bus costs whereas the county wants $337,000.

It includes nothing for local transit planning, which the county thinks should total $75,000.

Additionally, the staffs of the two districts are in disagreement over how much of the remaining $952,000 should be reserved for purchase of new buses, assuming the June tax rate election is successful.

The county wants $418,000 earmarked for local buses and the bridge district wants the entire $952,000 saved for subsidizing transbay buses.

The transit directors agreed to hold a special session next Tuesday to discuss the outcome of their protest to the bridge district board Friday.

Directors said if they are not successful Friday, they will consider approaching the Metropolitan Transportation Commission to settle the differences.

ISRAEL

abstained from the vote. It meant both would hold to their pledges not to join a new Meir government though they said they intended to support it.

Officials in Washington have expressed some concern that the political bickering in Israel could wreck Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's peace-seeking efforts in the Middle East. Israel and Syria are to begin disengagement talks later this month.

All the nay votes and abstentions came from Dayan's Rafi members.

In a second resolution, the committee voted unanimously for Mrs. Meir to retract her decision to resign. Another unanimous vote called on Dayan and Peres to join the new government.

Yadlin said he will report the votes to Mrs. Meir, who did not attend the meeting, in hopes of convincing the 75-year-old grandmother to be prime minister in the next government. She first was chosen prime minister as a compromise candidate in 1969.

The vote came after deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon warned an emergency meeting of the central committee that Mrs. Meir's threat to resign was still very real and appealed for unity.

Mrs. Meir has threatened to resign by midnight tomorrow because party bickering has prevented her forming a new coalition government.

Allon said Mrs. Meir did not change her mind about resigning but merely agreed to a plea yesterday by President Ephraim Katzir to put aside her threat to resign.

Unions Donate Heavily To Alioto

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, has collected $624,146 for his campaign including more than $100,000 from organized labor.

Alioto also received $1,000 from C. Arnholt Smith of San Diego, a wealthy businessman who was a heavy backer of President Nixon.

Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy, another gubernatorial candidate, reported contributions of $284,352, including $300 from mystery billionaire Howard Hughes.

Hughes also gave $1,000 to Democratic U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston and a contribution of less than $500 to Assemblyman Ken Cory, D-Garden Grove, according to campaign finance statements on file yesterday with the secretary of state's office.

Cranston reported a total of $436,985 on his principal campaign statement including $3,000 from John (Jake the Barber) Factor of Los Angeles, a Prohibition era ex-convict turned philanthropist.

Alioto's single largest contribution — $25,000 — came from the Hotel and Restaurant workers union. Scores of other unions made contributions, bringing the total from labor to $126,880.

Other Alioto contributors were Benjamin Swig, owner of San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel, $2,500; attorney Melvin Belli, $50; Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portala, $400, and S. I. Hayakawa, who had planned to seek the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, $100.

Flournoy's spending totalled $266,216. One of his contributors was the Newport Beach law firm of Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, which gave $300.

Other Flournoy contributors included Los Angeles millionaire Norton Simon, $1,500; the Irvine Co., $1,500; hotel tycoon Conrad Hilton, $500, and Cerrell Associates, a political management firm working for Alioto, $300.

Cranston reported spending $261,928. He received contributions from John A. Stephens of Santa Barbara, president of Excel Mineral Co., $14,000; Malibu businessman Miles Rubin, $2,000, and San Francisco industrialist Walter M. Shorenstein, $2,500.

Other candidates for statewide office and their contribution totals up to Dec. 31, 1973, included:

Oldest Tune Is Played In Berkeley

BERKELEY (UPI) — They revived an old tune today at the University of California — a 3,400-year-old tune in fact.

Experts who have been meticulously putting together the music for the ancient religious song believe it is the oldest piece of music in the world.

The tune was performed on an 11-string lyre built especially for it, copying the instrument on which the song was probably originally played.

Anna D. Kilmer, professor of Assyriology, said she has been working for 15 years with other authorities on ancient Assyria to decipher the music on ancient clay tablets found at the excavation of the city of Ugarit on the coast of Syria.

"We now see that the basic musical system of today dates back to at least 1800 B.C. — some 14 centuries older than ever imagined," Prof. Kilmer said.

She said the ancient Syrians "used the same basic scale as ours."

Until the song was discovered, the oldest piece of music known was a fragment dating from about 400 B.C. found in Egypt.

The instrument on which the tune was played was built by Prof. Robert R. Brown, copying fragments of an ancient instrument found in Southern Iraq which is believed to have had a culture similar to the Syrians.

The performer was Prof. Richard L. Crocker, of the music department.

The event is sponsored by the San Rafael Volunteer Fire Department.

Hawakaya Senate Bid Is Denied By Douglas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, former president of San Francisco State University, apparently will be unable to seek the Republican nomination for California's U.S. Senate seat.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas yesterday denied Hayakawa's request to stay a California Supreme Court decision holding that the semanticist could not seek the nomination because he had changed his party affiliation in the last year.

Friday is the filing deadline for the June primary.

Douglas said a similar issue was raised in another case which the court has not yet decided. He declared he could not tell whether there might be other grounds for which Hayakawa was barred, and he did not want to interfere with the writ of a state court.

California law bars persons from running for one party's nomination if they have changed affiliation less than one year earlier.

Hayakawa said the California law denied him equal protection of the laws as provided by the 14th Amendment. He said there was no "compelling state interest" in barring his candidacy.

Included in his petition to Douglas was a poll conducted by the Marvin Field organization which reported a majority of registered Republicans in California wanted to vote for Hayakawa.

Mrs. O'Neill Files For State Secretary Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Cathy O'Neill filed for the Democratic nomination for state secretary of state today and called for extensive reform of the electoral process to make it "more responsive, more economical and more honest."

Accompanied by her husband, Brian, and their two sons, Mrs. O'Neill filed her nomination papers at the county register of voters office.

Mrs. O'Neill said revision of the electoral process would benefit Californians because the political system would be more accessible to women and other segments of society.

"Thus a wider range of views and attitudes could be brought to bear on the state's problems," she said.

Some of the needed reforms, she said, included:

Appointment of a fully independent special prosecutor to police election laws.

Changing the way campaigns are financed by introducing a system that would mix limited private contributions and establish a system of public financing.

Inmate Suffers Stab Wound

A recently arrived San Quentin Prison inmate suffered minor stab wounds yesterday while walking in the prison yard.

The victim, Roberto Lopez, 25, walked up to a guard shortly before 1:30 p.m. and said he'd been stabbed, according to William D. Nyberg, prison information officer. Lopez was treated for a superficial wound in the head and two in the back.

No weapon was found nor any suspect located, Nyberg said. He said there was no indication the fight was linked to any of the minority groups in the prison.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Birgit Nilsson, the Wagnerian soprano, fell into a scenic pit on stage during a rehearsal of "Gotterdaemmerung" yesterday, dislocated her shoulder and cut her face and legs.

The opera was scheduled to open at the Metropolitan Opera next Friday, but it was not known whether Miss Nilsson would be able to appear.

She was treated under general anaethesia at a nearby hospital because of intense pain. A hospital spokesman said Miss Nilsson'a condition was satisfactory.

A friend of ours recently spent the evening up on Broadway, instead of driving all the way to San Rafael where we are. It cost him $3.00 for parking, $51.87 for dinner, $48.50 for drinks, tips, and cover charge at a topless night club, and $75,000 plus his lawyer's fee of $3,500 for his subsequent divorce. TURN-ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY

One lumber yard owner in Beaverton, Ore, found a way to voice his displeasure over the fuel shortage. For his end of the month special sale he limited gasoline station owners to ten pieces of paneling while allowing other customers all they wanted. (UPI Telephoto)

Unions Donate Heavily To Alioto

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, has collected $624,146 for his campaign including more than $100,000 from organized labor.

Alioto also received $1,000 from C. Arnholt Smith of San Diego, a wealthy businessman who was a heavy backer of President Nixon.

Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy, another gubernatorial candidate, reported contributions of $284,352, including $300 from mystery billionaire Howard Hughes.

Hughes also gave $1,000 to Democratic U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston and a contribution of less than $500 to Assemblyman Ken Cory, D-Garden Grove, according to campaign finance statements on file yesterday with the secretary of state's office.

Cranston reported a total of $436,985 on his principal campaign statement including $3,000 from John (Jake the Barber) Factor of Los Angeles, a Prohibition era ex-convict turned philanthropist.

Alioto's single largest contribution — $25,000 — came from the Hotel and Restaurant workers union. Scores of other unions made contributions, bringing the total from labor to $126,880.

Other Alioto contributors were Benjamin Swig, owner of San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel, $2,500; attorney Melvin Belli, $50; Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portala, $400, and S. I. Hayakawa, who had planned to seek the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, $100.

Flournoy's spending totalled $266,216. One of his contributors was the Newport Beach law firm of Nixon's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, which gave $300.

Other Flournoy contributors included Los Angeles millionaire Norton Simon, $1,500; the Irvine Co., $1,500; hotel tycoon Conrad Hilton, $500, and Cerrell Associates, a political management firm working for Alioto, $300.

Cranston reported spending $261,928. He received contributions from John A. Stephens of Santa Barbara, president of Excel Mineral Co., $14,000; Malibu businessman Miles Rubin, $2,000, and San Francisco industrialist Walter M. Shorenstein, $2,500.

Other candidates for statewide office and their contribution totals up to Dec. 31, 1973, included:

Assemblyman Walter Karablan, D-Monterey Park, $227,788, including $4,500 from Cerrell Associates, $300 from the Los Angeles Dodgers, $3,000 from National Medical Enterprises of Beverly Hills and $3,640 from John A. Gabriel of Santa Fe Springs. Karabian is running for secretary of state.

Wilson Riles, who plans to seek re-election as state schools chief, $124,477, including $4,000 from two teachers groups and $100 from former professional basketball star Elgin Baylor.

Assemblyman Cory, a contender for state controller, $46,230.

Republican John Veneman, a candidate for lieutenant governor, $64,930, with a $5,000 loan from Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor and their contribution totals were Howard Miller of Los Angeles, $24,185; John Merlo of Chico, $6,215, and Terrence P. Goggin of Los Angeles, $8,150.

Oldest Tune Is Played In Berkeley

Experts who have been meticulously putting together the music for the ancient religious song believe it is the oldest piece of music in the world.

The tune was performed on an 11-string lyre built especially for it, copying the instrument on which the song was probably originally played.

Anna D. Kilmer, professor of Assyriology, said she has been working for 15 years with other authorities on ancient Assyria to decipher the music on ancient clay tablets found at the excavation of the city of Ugarit on the coast of Syria.

"We now see that the basic musical system of today dates back to at least 1800 B.C. — some 14 centuries older than ever imagined," Prof. Kilmer said.

She said the ancient Syrians "used the same basic scale as ours."

Until the song was discovered, the oldest piece of music known was a fragment dating from about 400 B.C. found in Egypt.

The instrument on which the tune was played was built by Prof. Robert R. Brown, copying fragments of an ancient instrument found in Southern Iraq which is believed to have had a culture similar to the Syrians.

The performer was Prof. Richard L. Crocker, of the music department.

Centennial Ball Band Is Chosen

The Ernie Heckscher band will provide music during San Rafael's Centennial ball, a spokesman said yesterday.

The ball is planned for 8:30 p.m. May 25 in the Civic Center, according to H. Robert Ghilotti.

The event is sponsored by the San Rafael Volunteer Fire Department.

Conservationist Dinner Scheduled

Fortieth annual dinner of the Marin Conservation League will be held at 6 p.m. March 14 at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael.

Keynote speaker at the event will be former state Assemblyman John Busterud, one of three members of President Richard M. Nixon's Council on Environmental Quality. He will speak on international law and sea negotiations, as well as other environmental issues.

Hawakaya Senate Bid Is Denied By Douglas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley, former president of San Francisco State University, apparently will be unable to seek the Republican nomination for California's U.S. Senate seat.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas yesterday denied Hayakawa's request to stay a California Supreme Court decision holding that the semanticist could not seek the nomination because he had changed his party affiliation in the last year.

Friday is the filing deadline for the June primary.

Douglas said a similar issue was raised in another case which the court has not yet decided. He declared he could not tell whether there might be other grounds for which Hayakawa was barred, and he did not want to interfere with the writ of a state court.

California law bars persons from running for one party's nomination if they have changed affiliation less than one year earlier.

Hayakawa said the California law denied him equal protection of the laws as provided by the 14th Amendment. He said there was no "compelling state interest" in barring his candidacy.

Included in his petition to Douglas was a poll conducted by the Marvin Field organization which reported a majority of registered Republicans in California wanted to vote for Hayakawa.

Mrs. O'Neill Files For State Secretary Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Cathy O'Neill filed for the Democratic nomination for state secretary of state today and called for extensive reform of the electoral process to make it "more responsive, more economical and more honest."

Accompanied by her husband, Brian, and their two sons, Mrs. O'Neill filed her nomination papers at the county register of voters office.

Mrs. O'Neill said revision of the electoral process would benefit Californians because the political system would be more accessible to women and other segments of society.

"Thus a wider range of views and attitudes could be brought to bear on the state's problems," she said.

Some of the needed reforms, she said, included:

Appointment of a fully independent special prosecutor to police election laws.

Changing the way campaigns are financed by introducing a system that would mix limited private contributions and establish a system of public financing.

Inmate Suffers Stab Wound

A recently arrived San Quentin Prison inmate suffered minor stab wounds yesterday while walking in the prison yard.

The victim, Roberto Lopez, 25, walked up to a guard shortly before 1:30 p.m. and said he'd been stabbed, according to William D. Nyberg, prison information officer. Lopez was treated for a superficial wound in the head and two in the back.

No weapon was found nor any suspect located, Nyberg said. He said there was no indication the fight was linked to any of the minority groups in the prison.

Pearl To Sing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pearl Bailey will sing at the White House Thursday night at a dinner for the nation's 50 governors and their wives.

30 Signers In Fairfax Revealed

Names of 30 signers of an advertisement opposing reelection of Frank J. Egger to the Fairfax City Council were made public today by Edward T. Duncan, who placed the advertisement in last Saturday's Independent-Journal.

Egger, in a reply prepared for placement as an advertisement yesterday — but which was carried in a news story because it was too late to place in the advertising columns — claimed a request for the list had met with the reply that it was unavailable.

Duncan claimed today that the list was made available to Egger's campaign committee last Friday.

The signers were:

Elsie L. Frustuck, Alan E. Brown, Elmer M. Beasley, Jean Simmons, Renzo Veronese, Frank Avilas, Angelo Rosselli, Charles Vegara, Tom Fong Sr., Antoinette Ghiringhelli, Henry Ghiringhelli, Charles Peri Jr., Charles Peri Sr., Norman Ginsberg, Mary J. Prato, George Tong, Roy Traverso, J. R. Templeton, Gordon Jones, Elvin F. Andre, Andrew A. Isetta, Thomas Fong Jr., Louis Pietronave, J. Clyde Strauss, Harold F. Weber, Jerome Celoni, Leonard J. Aviles, Jane Forster, George A. Stevenson, and James M. Dismuke.

All are business people in Fairfax.

Singer Injured During Practice

NEW YORK (UPI) — Birgit Nilsson, the Wagnerian soprano, fell into a scenic pit on stage during a rehearsal of "Gotterdaemmerung" yesterday, dislocated her shoulder and cut her face and legs.

The opera was scheduled to open at the Metropolitan Opera next Friday, but it was not known whether Miss Nilsson would be able to appear.

She was treated under general anaethesia at a nearby hospital because of intense pain. A hospital spokesman said Miss Nilsson'a condition was satisfactory.

Hardcastle Will Seek Reelection

Thomas D. Hardcastle, a member of the Novato Sanitary District board for 24 years, has filed for reelection June 4.

Hardcastle, 56, of 7 English Court, Novato, is director of labor relations for Pacific Far East Lines in San Francisco.

With three seats open, only Hardcastle and Clayton D. Payne, another incumbent, have filed, with the deadline Friday.

The third director whose term is expiring is George de Tunca.

In Sonoma County, Nancy V. Gunn of Penngrove filed yesterday for the Peace and Freedom Party nomination for the Ninth Assembly District. Miss Gunn previously had announced her intention to run.

Also in Sonoma County, Municipal Court Judge James E. Jones Jr., who is running unopposed, filed for reelection.

A friend of ours recently spent the evening up on Broadway, instead of driving all the way to San Rafael where we are. It cost him $3.00 for parking, $51.87 for dinner, $48.50 for drinks, tips, and cover charge at a topless night club, and $75,000 plus his lawyer's fee of $3,500 for his subsequent divorce. Dominic's isn't cheap, but considering the atmosphere, superb food, and the possible savings, we're certainly worth a fifteen minute drive.

No. 1 Problem: Increasing Inflation

Men close to the president have been indicted on charges arising from the Watergate investigation. Daily lines at gasoline stations remind us of the energy crisis. But neither scandal in Washington nor short fuel supply is the most overriding problem of 1974.

That problem is inflation — not just in the United States, but almost worldwide.

PAUL W. McCRACKEN, University of Michigan business administration professor and former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, cites accelerating inflation rates in a recent article in the Wall Street Journal: In the United States, 3.4 per cent in the first half of 1972, 6.2 per cent in the first half of 1973, then 11.4 per cent in the third quarter of 1973; in leading industrial nations as a group, 5.5 per cent in the first half of 1972, 7.5 per cent in the first half of 1973, and 10.9 per cent in the third quarter of 1973.

"Average spendable weekly earnings in real terms last year declined 1.4 per cent" for Americans in private employment, he reports, "and there were actual declines in eight of the 12 months."

PROFESSOR McCracken has a proposed solution, which he offered in a speech at the National Tax Conference in New York in December.

It is a solution we have often recommended: Slow down government spending.

Governmental budgeting, he told the conference, is no longer based on "the crude but reasonably effective cost-benefit calculus of having to levy taxes adequate to cover outlays." It runs wild, with deficits taken for granted.

THE DEBT of the federal government is now in the neighborhood of $470 billion. This is money owed by all of us. It is a burden that sits on top of all the personal economic burdens of each of us.

According to Federal Reserve Board figures, the total consumer credit in the United States at the end of last November was $177 billion.

Thus the debt the government has imposed on us is approximately three times the debts we have imposed upon ourselves for automobiles and other consumer goods, home repairs, personal loans, etc.

ALL OF US can contribute to curbing inflation by living within our means, avoiding borrowing and instalment credit. But this is made more difficult by continuing federal deficits which have a threefold greater impact than all of us together as individual consumers.

And since the federal deficits force greater and greater inflation, it becomes harder and harder for us to live within our means — as shown by the declines in "real spendable personal income," which means what our paychecks will buy.

Those seeking public office this year may find vote-getting appeal in decrying the Watergate scandals or claiming a conspiracy to inflate the price of gasoline. But they would show more responsibility and awareness of public need in addressing themselves to the prime cause of inflation — government spending.

Example Of Bureaucrat Who Turns Into Autocrat

By EARL G. WATERS

The evils of government about which Ronald Reagan complained when he was running for governor eight years ago continue.

Ronnie pointed out how state employes, entrenched under civil service, can thwart the plans and policy changes attempted by a new governor. He said they take the view that an elected official is only going to be around for a short time and they (the civil servants) are forever.

A classic example of how right that view is can be found in the Department of Veterans Affairs. There, a civil service bureaucrat is dominating the home loan program even to the point of over-ruling the appointive director and the policy-making board.

THIS PERSON is Jack Johnson, who was promoted under civil service by former Director Joseph Farber from a minor position to the job of managing the veterans' home loan program.

Johnson's superiors in the department have refused to furnish any information regarding his educational and work experience background by way of demonstrating his qualifications to manage a financial lending operation which deals in millions of dollars.

What is known is that since he became manager, the program has undergone many regressive changes. Loans have become tougher to get. Unwarranted delays in processing loan applications were reported by the auditor general.

Insurance rates have risen sharply, while benefits have been cut. Interest rates have been increased. Earnings on the loans have been diverted to pay for administrative costs unrelated to the loan program.

The department reversed its policy of advancing property taxes for the veterans. Instead it now will pay only if the money has been impounded in anticipation of property tax payments. It is this practice of impounding funds without payment of interest to the borrower which has drawn heated criticism from the lawmakers. The department has also discontinued furnishing postpaid return envelopes which made it easier for the borrower to return his payment. Further, it has instituted a harsh late payment penalty policy.

BUT THE LATEST irregularity to come to light is the decision of Johnson to deny full loans to veterans seeking to refinance.

The maximum amount which can be loaned has undergone many changes since the program was started. At that time it was $5,000. With the increased costs of homes, adjustments have been made. The current maximum is $25,000.

So, one who borrowed when the maximum was $15,000 and has since paid off $5,000 is being held to a $10,000 limit on a subsequent loan.

It was the intent of the legislature to make possible a new loan for veterans under certain conditions which are set forth in the law. For example, a change of employment which requires a veteran to move to another city would entitle the veteran to another loan, after disposing of his first home.

The law clearly reads: "Any veteran. . . may be granted a subsequent opportunity to purchase another. . . home". Denying the veteran the full loan for a new home most effectively defeats the legislative purpose. Where does one buy a home today for $10,000?

It should be understood that the program operates at no cost to the state. The veteran borrowers fully finance the entire program with the interest paid upon the loans. So Johnson's arbitrary decision saves the state nothing, but denies the veterans their rights as decreed by the legislature.

Public Participation In Cable TV Sought

On Feb. 22, Marin Community Video sponsored Marin County's first substantial workshop on the question of cable TV. Central to the meeting was the FCC ruling that by 1977 all major cable operations in the country must provide viewers on a city level with:

(A). A 20-channel cable system; (B). Two-way capability (enabling messages to be sent as well as received); (C). Three channels to be reserved for: (1) - local origin programming, (2) - education, (3) - local government.

The meeting was significant in that for the first time representatives of the industry, local government and community interest groups were together in the same room discussing the same subject. The only notable absence was from the press and media (who were invited), therefore compelling me to bring belated notice to the occasion. . .

The FCC is now allowing community participation in the media via the medium of cable TV. But, then, it also allowed for community participation in early radio and TV. However, due to lack of information and failure to utilize its rights, the public effectively forfeited the airwaves to large commercial operators.

The question of cable TV, as concluded by the meeting, is, indeed, complex. It involves developing a new technology at a reasonable pace, without bankrupting cable companies and without making the public the loser again. There is no question that successful public utilization of cable TV is predicated on the oldest of platitudes — involvement.

Dairymen Need Consumers, Too

Now the dairymen are threatening to slaughter their cattle unless they are allowed to raise the price of milk. Let them, they will only have a bunch of dead carcasses lying about that they will have to bury. Apparently, they are trying to frighten the consumer into a panic and gain the same control the oil companies now have. If they were able to make huge financial contributions to the presidential campaign, they must not be suffering too much in financial losses unless they are trying to recoup their contributions through price increases.

Remember, they need us, the consumers, as much as we need them. Don't let their fancy, expensive, milk commercials fool you. True, we do need milk products, but not as much as they try to make us believe. I know that drinking a gallon of milk a day will not make me look like a movie star.

ART BUCHWALD

Yes, We're Getting The Facts; But They Never Seem To Agree

WASHINGTON — There is an old saw here that if you just give people the facts they will rise to any situation. This theory is now inoperative.

A group of us were lined up here in Washington, D.C., the other day waiting to get gas from a station located in McLean, Va., when somebody yelled from his car, "I just heard on the radio that the Shah of Iran says we have more than enough gasoline in this country."

There were shouts of joy and everyone started tooting their horns in a V for victory Morse code.

BUT AN HOUR LATER someone passed down the word that William Simon, the energy czar, had just made a statement that the shah didn't know what he was talking about. People stopped honking their horns and sat gloomily, inching along toward the pumps.

Another bulletin was then given by the man in front of me. "President Nixon has just announced that the crisis is over, but the problems still exist. Pass it on."

I told the lady behind me, who broke into tears of joy.

"Thank God for the president," she said.

The president's announcement gave a new lift to the line and we all stood around our cars chattering excitedly about the good news.

THEN FROM 'WAY BACK in the line we heard cries of anguish. Someone had heard on the radio that the National Petroleum Council had just issued a report that unless new stiff conservation measures were instituted there would be mandatory rationing by spring.

"But," said the lady who had just blessed the president, "Nixon said there wouldn't be any need for rationing."

"That was 10 minutes ago," a college student said. "Conditions change very fast during an energy crisis."

"There isn't any crisis," a mother with two children interjected. "We've just got problems getting gas."

WE ALL GOT BACK into our cars and moved up one foot.

A man came running down the line. "Bill Simon just told a Senate committee the lines for gasoline will be reduced by April!"

We all whooped and started slapping each other on the back.

A truck driver had a crowd around him. "I just heard on my two-way radio that 14 oil tankers are 100 miles off the coast of New Jersey," he said.

"Yeah," said another man, "but they just turned around and are heading back to Europe because they can get a dollar a barrel more for it there."

A newspaper boy came by holding a headline, "SIMON SAYS NORTHEAST TO GET MORE FUEL." He was sold out in minutes. While we were reading the story, a new bulletin came out on the radio. "Simon is raising the price of gasoline two cents a gallon."

A little old lady who had been in line for three days told me, "I'd like to get just one full tank before I die."

WE ALL MOVED UP another foot. Then someone started a volleyball game. Other people sat on the curb exchanging addresses and business cards.

Word reached us that Shell and Amoco had cut their dealers' allocations for March. This was followed by an announcement that Royal Dutch Shell had tripled its profits in 1973 to $1.68 billion.

One man started smashing his radio with a tire iron. The euphoria about Nixon's original announcement had died down. As I turned a corner and saw the Exxon sign 'way off in the sunset, I couldn't help thinking to myself, "They could solve the whole energy crisis if they made William Simon ambassador to the court of the Shah of Iran."

CAPITOL QUIPS

One reason for the paper shortage in this country is the amount that's been wasted on subpoenas sent to the White House.

The Nixon tape episode has educated some Democrats. Now they're saying it was a mechanical failure that erased George McGovern as a presidential candidate in '72.

Scenario: If the weather is good and there's enough fertilizer and gasoline to provide a big wheat harvest and the farmer's don't hold it back or sell it to Russia, we'll have plenty of bread this year.

Democrats See Election Sweep; What Will They Do With It?

WASHINGTON — If the latest Gallup poll is correct — and Gallup has a remarkable record of accuracy —the congressional elections this fall will return overwhelming Democratic majorities.

The latest Gallup poll shows Republican strength at the lowest level in the 38 years of polling, with the Democrats having a lead of 58 per cent to 29 per cent for the Republicans and only 13 per cent undecided.

A lot can happen between now and November, and Republican strategists are counting on Democratic sins of omission and commission to help correct this imbalance.

IF THE CURRENT harvest of Watergate indictments is evidence, the going promises to be even rougher for the GOP in the months ahead.

Often in the media, this seems to be treated like a horse race and the larger question is what a Democratic sweep can mean. After 1964 and Lyndon Johnson's landslide, the Democrats ended up with 295 seats in the House to 140 for the Republicans. And despite the outcries of congressional critics, President Johnson could go on to order 550,000 American ground troops into the Vietnam war.

The most disturbing commentary on the elections both at home and abroad is that they settle nothing. So enormous is the dislocation, social and economic, that the remedy of the ballot box — turning the rascals out — accomplishes little.

While it may give temporary relief to the emotions, the same intractable problems of inflation, high taxes, unemployment and pollution are still there.

BRITAIN, where election campaigns are mercifully brief, offers a prize example. Prime Minister Edward Heath for the Tories and Harold Wilson for Labor slammed each other with the old political bromides. Yet the victor must grant the striking coal miners wages much higher than Heath had rejected and that will mean another round of inflation.

The painful truth is that Britain is bankrupt, with a trade deficit staggering for a nation that must trade to live.

A virtue in the past has been that defeat for one of the parties brings about a change of leadership. Time-worn figures are shuffled off stage to make way for younger and presumably abler leaders who will make the next run.

Yet this gives to leadership an almost mystical quality, as though polished-up charisma could show the way out of the great dismal swamp. We have all misused the word, falling back on it when solutions semed beyond reach.

In the most horrendous example in this century, the Germans, when the feeble democracy of the Weimar Republic broke down, got their leader. His name was Hitler and he ruled with all the snares of demagogy while committing crimes as monstrous as any in history.

IT COULDN'T HAPPEN here, we say complacently. Yet we had a Joe McCarthy and a Huey Long who aspired to leadership with authoritarian overtones.

Let's assume the Democrats get their sweep in November and, come next January, the majorities are top-heavy in both Senate and House. The performance of the Congress in recent years holds out little hope of a coherent concerted attack on the ills presently plaguing us.

Even a Congress with two-thirds majorities able to override any presidential veto would be stumped by, let's say, oil prices tripling and quadrupling.

So there's another election to come in 1976. A Republican candidate with a set of sharp public relations types will make the case that the Democrats controlled Congress by these huge majorities. And what have they done? Little or nothing.

This was the case Harry Truman made in 1948 after the Republicans had had congressional majorities for two years. In his whistle-stop campaign, he called it the Eighty-worst Congress, and to the surprise of practically everybody he was re-elected to a full term in the White House.

The lesson in this for the Democrats is that they had better know what they want to do with their win. Otherwise, a victory can prove as empty as such victories in the past.

Food, Fuel, Fertilizer Shortages Augur Famine

By RICHARD L. STROUT

WASHINGTON — It's as simple as one, two, three: A fuel shortage means a fertilizer shortage; a fertilizer shortage means a food shortage.

"Foreign customers are literally tearing down the door to get American fertilizer," Edwin M. Wheeler, president of the Fertilizer Institute, tells a U.S. Senate committee.

But, he adds, there isn't enough fertilizer to go round for the world's crops.

So what happens if fuel, fertilizer, food — the three "F's" — come up short? Says Wheeler simply, with unconscious alliteration, "I fear the specter of famine." That's the fourth "F."

LISTENING TO HIM, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., says grimly, "The fuel crisis of 1974 will look like a Sunday school picnic compared to the world food crisis of 1975-6, if something isn't done."

Wheeler feels the U.S. doesn't realize the situation, not even the farmers, though they are becoming aware of it.

The Fertilizer Institute is, of course, a lobby, and Wheeler is its spokesman. But his cry of anxiety is being listened to by increasing numbers of senators.

What he says is that the Department of Ariculture has underestimated the situation as it did, he asserts, when it allowed the Russians to come in and buy up a major portion of America's wheat crop last year.

Don A. Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's chief economist, stoutly denies the Wheeler charge and accuses the fertilizer people and the farmers of "magnifying the estimates of their need."

FERTILIZER IS the stuff that makes wheat and corn crops multiply.

One ton of fertilizer will produce five additional tons of grain.

Just last October, Morocco and Tunisia suddenly increased the price of another fertilizer, phosphate rock, by 183 per cent overnight.

Add to this that probably one-third of the world's 3.9 billion population go to bed hungry at night and world competition for food has jumped the price of a humble orange to 25 cents at the corner market.

SO FINALLY — the U.S. government, after years of paying farmers not to grow things, suddenly changed signals in one of the greatest policy shifts in history and put back into harvested cropland some 45 million more acres in the 1972-73 crop year, and added another 20 million acres in 1974. Total expected acreage is 352 million.

Wheeler has reservations: "Our industry was never consulted in either the 1973 or 1974 acreage release."

To make enough fertilizer, the industry must compete with the city automobile driver for scarce fuel.

And the problem is global. India and Africa find fertilizer sources shut off, says Senator Humphrey, and the possibility of disaster "is greater than anytime since 1930."

No. 1 Problem: Increasing Inflation

Men close to the president have been indicted on charges arising from the Watergate investigation. Daily lines at gasoline stations remind us of the energy crisis. But neither scandal in Washington nor short fuel supply is the most overriding problem of 1974.

That problem is inflation — not just in the United States, but almost worldwide.

PAUL W. McCRACKEN, University of Michigan business administration professor and former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, cites accelerating inflation rates in a recent article in the Wall Street Journal: In the United States, 3.4 per cent in the first half of 1972, 6.2 per cent in the first half of 1973, then 11.4 per cent in the third quarter of 1973; in leading industrial nations as a group, 5.5 per cent in the first half of 1972, 7.5 per cent in the first half of 1973, and 10.9 per cent in the third quarter of 1973.

The economy, he notes, simply cannot function efficiently with such inflation rates.

"Average spendable weekly earnings in real terms last year declined 1.4 per cent" for Americans in private employment, he reports, "and there were actual declines in eight of the 12 months."

PROFESSOR McCracken has a proposed solution, which he offered in a speech at the National Tax Conference in New York in December.

It is a solution we have often recommended: Slow down government spending.

Governmental budgeting, he told the conference, is no longer based on "the crude but reasonably effective cost-benefit calculus of having to levy taxes adequate to cover outlays." It runs wild, with deficits taken for granted.

THE DEBT of the federal government is now in the neighborhood of $470 billion. This is money owed by all of us. It is a burden that sits on top of all the personal economic burdens of each of us.

According to Federal Reserve Board figures, the total consumer credit in the United States at the end of last November was $177 billion.

Thus the debt the government has imposed on us is approximately three times the debts we have imposed upon ourselves for automobiles and other consumer goods, home repairs, personal loans, etc.

ALL OF US can contribute to curbing inflation by living within our means, avoiding borrowing and instalment credit. But this is made more difficult by continuing federal deficits which have a threefold greater impact than all of us together as individual consumers.

And since the federal deficits force greater and greater inflation, it becomes harder and harder for us to live within our means — as shown by the declines in "real spendable personal income," which means what our paychecks will buy.

Those seeking public office this year may find vote-getting appeal in decrying the Watergate scandals or claiming a conspiracy to inflate the price of gasoline. But they would show more responsibility and awareness of public need in addressing themselves to the prime cause of inflation — government spending.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Example Of Bureaucrat Who Turns Into Autocrat

By EARL G. WATERS

The evils of government about which Ronald Reagan complained when he was running for governor eight years ago continue.

Ronnie pointed out how state employes, entrenched under civil service, can thwart the plans and policy changes attempted by a new governor. He said they take the view that an elected official is only going to be around for a short time and they (the civil servants) are forever.

A classic example of how right that view is can be found in the Department of Veterans Affairs. There, a civil service bureaucrat is dominating the home loan program even to the point of over-ruling the appointive director and the policy-making board.

THIS PERSON is Jack Johnson, who was promoted under civil service by former Director Joseph Farber from a minor position to the job of managing the veterans' home loan program.

Johnson's superiors in the department have refused to furnish any information regarding his educational and work experience background by way of demonstrating his qualifications to manage a financial lending operation which deals in millions of dollars.

What is known is that since he became manager, the program has undergone many regressive changes. Loans have become tougher to get. Unwarranted delays in processing loan applications were reported by the auditor general.

Insurance rates have risen sharply, while benefits have been cut. Interest rates have been increased. Earnings on the loans have been diverted to pay for administrative costs unrelated to the loan program.

The department reversed its policy of advancing property taxes for the veterans. Instead it now will pay only if the money has been impounded in anticipation of property tax payments. It is this practice of impounding funds without payment of interest to the borrower which has drawn heated criticism from the lawmakers. The department has also discontinued furnishing postpaid return envelopes which made it easier for the borrower to return his payment. Further, it has instituted a harsh late payment penalty policy.

BUT THE LATEST irregularity to come to light is the decision of Johnson to deny full loans to veterans seeking to refinance.

The maximum amount which can be loaned has undergone many changes since the program was started. At that time it was $5,000. With the increased costs of homes, adjustments have been made. The current maximum is $25,000.

So, one who borrowed when the maximum was $15,000 and has since paid off $5,000 is being held to a $10,000 limit on a subsequent loan.

It was the intent of the legislature to make possible a new loan for veterans under certain conditions which are set forth in the law. For example, a change of employment which requires a veteran to move to another city would entitle the veteran to another loan, after disposing of his first home.

The law clearly reads: "Any veteran. . . may be granted a subsequent opportunity to purchase another. . . home". Denying the veteran the full loan for a new home most effectively defeats the legislative purpose. Where does one buy a home today for $10,000?

It should be understood that the program operates at no cost to the state. The veteran borrowers fully finance the entire program with the interest paid upon the loans. So Johnson's arbitrary decision saves the state nothing, but denies the veterans their rights as decreed by the legislature.

ART BUCHWALD

Yes, We're Getting The Facts; But They Never Seem To Agree

WASHINGTON — There is an old saw here that if you just give people the facts they will rise to any situation. This theory is now inoperative.

A group of us were lined up here in Washington, D.C., the other day waiting to get gas from a station located in McLean, Va., when somebody yelled from his car, "I just heard on the radio that the Shah of Iran says we have more than enough gasoline in this country."

There were shouts of joy and everyone started tooting their horns in a V for victory Morse code.

BUT AN HOUR LATER someone passed down the word that William Simon, the energy czar, had just made a statement that the shah didn't know what he was talking about. People stopped honking their horns and sat gloomily, inching along toward the pumps.

Another bulletin was then given by the man in front of me. "President Nixon has just announced that the crisis is over, but the problems still exist. Pass it on."

I told the lady behind me, who broke into tears of joy.

"Thank God for the president," she said.

The president's announcement gave a new lift to the line and we all stood around our cars chattering excitedly about the good news.

THEN FROM 'WAY BACK in the line we heard cries of anguish. Someone had heard on the radio that the National Petroleum Council had just issued a report that unless new stiff conservation measures were instituted there would be mandatory rationing by spring.

"But," said the lady who had just blessed the president, "Nixon said there wouldn't be any need for rationing."

"That was 10 minutes ago," a college student said. "Conditions change very fast during an energy crisis."

"There isn't any crisis," a mother with two children interjected. "We've just got problems getting gas."

WE ALL GOT BACK into our cars and moved up one foot.

A man came running down the line. "Bill Simon just told a Senate committee the lines for gasoline will be reduced by April!"

We all whooped and started slapping each other on the back.

A truck driver had a crowd around him. "I just heard on my two-way radio that 14 oil tankers are 100 miles off the coast of New Jersey," he said.

"Yeah," said another man, "but they just turned around and are heading back to Europe because they can get a dollar a barrel more for it there."

A newspaper boy came by holding a headline, "SIMON SAYS NORTHEAST TO GET MORE FUEL." He was sold out in minutes. While we were reading the story, a new bulletin came out on the radio. "Simon is raising the price of gasoline two cents a gallon."

A little old lady who had been in line for three days told me, "I'd like to get just one full tank before I die."

WE ALL MOVED UP another foot. Then someone started a volleyball game. Other people sat on the curb exchanging addresses and business cards.

Word reached us that Shell and Amoco had cut their dealers' allocations for March. This was followed by an announcement that Royal Dutch Shell had tripled its profits in 1973 to $1.68 billion.

One man started smashing his radio with a tire iron. The euphoria about Nixon's original announcement had died down. As I turned a corner and saw the Exxon sign 'way off in the sunset, I couldn't help thinking to myself, "They could solve the whole energy crisis if they made William Simon ambassador to the court of the Shah of Iran."

Sonoma ACLU Finds Issue In Song Tots Trill At School

Things must really be dull at the Sonoma Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union these days.

So dull, in fact, that the ACLU has had a hard time finding cases to fight.

But no longer. A real cause has arisen — more or less.

It's a grand and noble one, to be sure: the separation of church and state.

It has to do with a song which until now has been sung in kindergarten classes at Waldo Rohnert Elementary School in Rohnert Park.

You probably will recognize it since it's one which just about every kid in the country has sung:

"Thank you for the world so sweet;

"Thank you for the food we eat;

"Thank you for the birds that sing;

"Thank you, God, for everything."

Suspecting that the song might be an unconstitutional state establishment of religion, what with having God in it, the ACLU has taken the kind of initiative it usually reserves for more significant cases. The Sonoma County Superior Court is being asked to decide.

Nice move, Sonoma ACLU. The Supreme Court may hear of you yet.

MEANWHILE, in Petaluma, a ruckus is likely to be raised soon when citizens realize the city council is considering an ordinance to curb what many feel is a basic American right: the right to keep and bear animals.

Councilmen are studying a pet control ordinance which would be more strict than the present one, which merely requires dogs to be under voice control.

There are stories of parlor raccoons, house iguanas, and even backyard boa constrictors — a veritable plague of things that go bump in the dark.

The new ordinance may limit families to no more than four animals per household, and therein, as they say, lies the rub.

The four-animal limit is expected to raise the ire of kennel owners and hamster fanciers and — who knows? — maybe guppy growers.

The ordinance will require very careful wording. The mind boggles at the thought of going before the planning commission for a variance to allow the family bassett to whelp. (When hamsters are outlawed, only outlaws will have hamsters).

THE WARM SPRINGS Dam Task Force, a Santa Rosa based group opposed to the Army Corps of Engineers Russian River Basin project in Sonoma County, has found a timely if mildly incredible argument against building the dam.

The corps, the task force said last week, "recently requested a special allocation of 700,000 gallons of diesel fuel from the federal energy office" for the construction project.

"Since both diesel and gasoline are made from crude oil, and the amount of crude oil needed to produce diesel fuel or gasoline is about the same, this amount of oil could provide over two million gallons of gasoline to area motorists," the task force said.

The task force went on to say the fuel allocation could "provide us with enough gasoline for at least 25 million miles of passenger car driving. Conservatively estimated at 12.5 miles per gallon, this would be enough gas to drive around the world 1,000 times."

Citizens should consider, the group said, "whether they want to build a new and unnecessary dam which would take away recreation business from the existing Russian River resort area, or if they would prefer increased gasoline availability for their cars."

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Lion Of Judah Shorn Of Some Of His Power

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Emperor Haile Selassie won his place in history when in July, 1936, before the League of Nations in Geneva and to the jeers of Italian students in the gallery, he pleaded unsuccessfully for help against the invading armies of Benito Mussolini.

A slight figure with brooding eyes, a cape draped over his shoulders, he stood before the 52-member league and told them that the Italian invasion of Ethiopia was a "question of collective security, of the very existence of the league ...

"In a word, it is international morality that is at stake."

THE LEAGUE IGNORED him and thereby assured its own demise.

A son of Mussolini later was to describe the bombing of Ethiopia as akin to the beautiful flowering of a rose.

It was the beginning of the attempt by the Axis powers, Germany, Italy and Japan, to take over the world by force of arms.

HISTORY MAY REGARD the five-foot-four figure of the Lion of Judah with mixed conclusions.

Except for an interim in exile, 1936-1941, he has ruled Ethiopia almost absolutely since 1924.

He abolished slavery and gave the country a new constitution but historians may doubt, for example, his claim that Ethiopia could be brought along only slowly from medieval ways to the 20th century.

Nonetheless there could be no questioning of the loyalty of the bulk of his 23 million people to his royal figure.

In 1960 angry tribesmen armed with spears cantered on ponies through the streets of Addis Ababa, the capital, shouting slogans against Syria. They accused the Syrians of arming the rebels of Eritrea, a Moslem coastal province and former Italian colony which had been the springboard for the Italian invasion of Ethiopia.

"Get out, Arabs," they shouted.

SUCH HAS BEEN the reverence accorded Selassie that his people prostrate themselves before his Rolls Royce.

Yet, with all the worship among his subjects for the man who claims to descend from a romance between King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, local rebellions are perennial in Ethiopia.

Among rebels are the guerrillas of Eritrea and the tribesmen in Gojjam, Wollega and Bale provinces in the west and southeast.

And, in recent years, have been added the rebellious voices of students.

IN THE LAST YEAR, famine and cholera have taken lives estimated at between 50,000 and 100,000 in the northern provinces of Wallo and Tegre.

Despite Ethiopia's poverty and internal strife, Selassie has stood as an African example of solidity and one of the continent's outstanding leaders.

But now Ethiopia seems to have come to a turning of the road. Rebellious troops proclaim their loyalty to Haile Selassie but they also have discovered their power. Foreign diplomats believe the 82-year-old emperor never again will hold the absolute power of the past.

Younger Seeking Gas Information

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Attorney General Evelle J. Younger has asked 800 oil and gas companies for information on their California operations to help determine the severity of the energy crisis.

Younger yesterday said he requested data "about production, storage, importation, estimated proven reserves and distribution" of gas and oil within California.

He said information obtained from the questionnaires he sent to oil and gas firms doing business in the state will enable assessment of the seriousness of the energy crisis and development of "sound policies" to deal with it.

Street Blockade Approved By Mill Valley Councilmen

At the request of dozens of protesting residents from the Sycamore Avenue area, the Mill Valley City Council last night agreed to block through traffic on that street in order to keep Sycamore from being used as a shortcut to the city's downtown.

In a 90-day trial, barrier curbs will be put up on Sycamore at its intersections with Amicita and La Goma avenues. The curbs will not block the street completely but will leave a narrow lane for use by local residents and by emergency vehicles.

The city will then do traffic counts to see if that cuts down congestion and whether the frustrated drivers then pour into other side streets in the area.

Debate on the measure led off with a report from city engineer Jesper Strandgaard, who drew angry jeers from the audience. Strandgaard said studies showed that two-thirds of the auto travelers on the street were shortcutters from outside the neighborhood. But he said the volume of traffic did not warrant blocking off the street.

Ralph Mead of the neighborhood argued that the city should give the residents' idea for the barricades a trial. "It doesn't have to be set in concrete," he said.

Peter Depanioti of Locke Lane and a few others said they thought the barricades would just divert the traffic to other narrow side streets. But most in the crowd favored the plan.

Councilman Robert E. Burton said he would prefer to make Miller Avenue more attractive as a thoroughfare, rather than blocking off Sycamore. But Mayor Jean S. Barnard and planning commission chairman Ivan S. Poutiatine argued that since residents had worked so hard on the problem, the council owed them a chance to try out their plan.

The council voted four to one, with Burton dissenting, to try the barricades. It also unanimously adopted a motion from Burton calling for work on improvements in turn lanes at Miller and Camino Alto as a way to get motorists to stick to those streets.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

USE PERMITS — Postponed until March 18 a proposal to require use permits for businesses with a tourist oriented appeal.

GAS STATIONS — Delayed to March 12 an emergency ordinance requiring that gas station owners police lines at their businesses to be sure that driveways are kept clear.

AUTO — Voted to supply the city manager with a city-owned car to drive for business purposes rather than giving him a mileage allowance.

BOTANICAL GARDENS — Accepted the gift offered to the city of the Edgewood Botanical Gardens off Edgewood Avenue and decided to form a committee to study uses for the property.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a closed session to discuss pending litigation and refused to disclose what litigation was involved or to say why it did not wish the public to know.

MEETING — Adjourned to next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at city hall to canvass election results.

Delancey Street Group Given Permission To Use Old Store

The Delancey Street Foundation, a San Francisco group which rehabilitates drug addicts, can use an abandoned supermarket in Mill Valley as a warehouse for one year, the city council decided last night.

The council thus reversed a previous rejection of the warehouse plan by the planning commission. Planning commissioners had decided that owners of the property at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue should come up with a permanent tenant instead of a temporary one.

The city council agreed that owner Lloyd Tupper of San Rafael should find a longterm use of the old Purity market, but decided that Delancey Street might upgrade the property in the meantime.

Tupper said he had been searching for months for a possible use for the lot which the city would like. He said he had decided to donate the building to the foundation temporarily only as a way of preventing litter and vandalism. "If I let them use the building on a temporary basis, they will replace the windows. They will provide private police protection. And they will repaint the building," he said.

Daniel Weinstein, from the foundation, said the building would be used to store food, equipment, business machines and paper supplies donated to the foundation for use in its business enterprises and residences in Sausalito and San Francisco. "We're looking for warehouse space in San Francisco, and as soon as we find it, we will be out."

Most audience members who spoke favored the warehouse use, including Harry Andrews, president of an association of Scott Valley homeowners near the property.

"The buildings would be repaired, and if they're occupied, they're less subject to vandalism," Andrews said.

Councilmen noted that using the building permanently as a warehouse would conflict with a new city general plan now being prepared and said they probably would not renew the use permit for the warehouse after a year.

The vote to approve the plan was 4-1, with Mayor Jean S. Barnard dissenting. She said she had encountered opposition to the plan from Scott Valley residents.

Energy Crisis Changes Happiness Definition

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — This thing called the energy crisis calls for some new thinking concerning that familiar definition of what happiness is.

Happiness still is a warm puppy, a vacation in the warm Caribbean, and getting a warm tax refund from Uncle Sam.

Now happiness more than ever has become having and enjoying the things we were taking for granted this time last year.

I suppose the ultimate of happiness is finding a gasoline station with no long lines of cars and an attendant who does just what you request when you say 'fill 'er up".

But happiness also is not owning an automobile "at this point in time" or having a small car which economizes on fuel and if necessary can run for a while on its reputation.

Happiness is living within walking distance of work and plenty of mass transportation available if you don't.

Happiness is an uncrowded highway if travel you must.

Happiness is the drop in the highway accident toll as fewer cars hit the road and speed limits are reduced.

Happiness is owning a sailboat instead of a motorboat. There's no shortage of wind yet.

Happiness is cutting down on household chores that call for electrical appliances ... not running the sweeper every day, letting the laundry pile up a full washer load, not giving finishing touches to drip-dry shirts and blouses.

Happiness is dining by candlelight.

Happiness is not having to entertain some of those people whom you didn't want to entertain anyway.

Happiness is not having to chauffeur the children to school, to music lessons, to basketball practice, and husband to station—walking's good for him.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

He Was Nice To Friendless Kid Who Now Steps All Over Him

RAP:

I'm always for the underdog. This kid didn't have any friends so I hung around with him a little and tried to show him the ropes.

He was a fast learner! This year, he's where I was last year, and I'm not doing so good. He's out to beat me at everything. He's even taken two girls away from me.

He makes the guys laugh at me and puts me down whenever he can.

I could have done that to him once —like the others did last year.

Do nice guys always get shafted? — NOW THE UNDERDOG

NTU:

Not always, but face it: Climbers are on the lookout for stepping stones, and nice guys make the walkin' easy.

Stay kind, but be more selective about your "underdogs." And don't let this one get to you — he'll trip before long. — HELEN

NTU:

This quote from Robert Redford may make you feel better. Of his high school life, he says, "I...had a sense of others being wounded. If there was a guy nobody wanted on their team, I'd say, 'Hey, he can be on my team.' But here's the beauty part. Later that guy would always turn against me."

Eighteen years later he's still in there pitching for the underdog.

Nope, NTU, nice guys don't always get shafted. But they soon learn they can't automatically expect kindness in return. — SUE

RAP:

Every girl in high school was out to make Tom fall for her, but he only used them. I dated him once and never got asked again. I wasn't swift enough.

Last New Year's Eve he got in a fight with a guy and now he's going on trial for manslaughter because the fellow died of a brain injury when his head hit a curb.

Tom says it was self-defense, but with his reputation for hot temper, he may go up for five years.

Helen and Sue, Tom is a changed person. He's lost a lot of friends since this happened, and he's become quiet and thoughtful. I've gone with him three times since he's been out on bail, and all he tried was a good night kiss.

Last night he said he needed someone who really cared about him, and he wanted something great to remember while he was in prison.

I'm not sure if I love him or not, but he needs me. I could hold out against him when he was just trying to make time and any girl would do, but now that I seem special to him, I'm tempted.

I'm a girl who always dreamed of waiting for marriage, but he says marriage is selfish, since he may be gone for a long time.

Should I or shouldn't I? — UNDECIDED

DEAR UN:

If you're so undecided you have to ask an outsider's advice, you want "No!" for an answer.

So my answer is, "Don't mistake pity for love, and don't get involved in a long wait for someone who may not be as 'changed' as you think." — HELEN

UNDECIDED:

You say, "Tom needs me," but do you need him? A guy who only turns to you when his other friends have left him, isn't the best risk. And that sympathy pitch sounds pretty thin. Don't start up something you'll regret —whether or not he goes to jail. — SUE

DESIGN FOR PEOPLE

Make Your Rooms Multi-Purpose

By EMILY MALINO
Distributed by United Feature Syndicate

One of the best spin-offs of the space and energy crunch is the multi-purpose room. In grandmother's day, each room had a fixed use, and some — like the parlor — had very little use, indeed.

If we look beyond grandma, way beyond, to the recorded beginnings of rooms, we find out that almost every room had to have many uses because it was difficult and expensive to enclose space.

Other reasons for multi-purpose rooms existed in history. As recently as the 16th Century, for instance, the bedrooms of the Louises of Frances were also used for cabinet meetings and for state visitors, mostly because the king could be warm and toasty in his bed while his guests froze in those vast but drafty palaces.

TODAY, WE have come full circle. We have less space with each new building and we seem to be running out of heat as well.

The logical outgrowth of this double threat is to make all your rooms into 24-hour spaces, where an odd corner can be converted to make your daytime practical as well as more productive.

This was my goal in a room I designed for a talented young painter with two tiny children too young for school. It was impossible for her to go daily to a studio, so I designed one for her at home.

It would have been easier to find a corner for the studio in the living room, but with its open feeling it lacked the privacy our painter needed. Besides, with the heat turned down to save fuel, it was ever so much more cozy in the bedroom.

The space was small; a typical master bedroom, large enough for a double bed and two night tables, but to get our studio corner, we had to sacrifice the conventional double bureau. We chose instead to build a bureau into each closet and hang the clothes rods higher, above the drawers.

This procedure liberated enough square footage for a continuous shelf, handy for extra tubes of paint —or a few blooming beauties and for a sturdy easel, large enough to support the big canvas paintings this artist prefers.

THE LOFTY studio window was one of the attractions that sold this family on the place when they saw it, but the idea can be adapted to an ordinary vertical window by building a diagonal frame and supporting removable translucent plexiglas panels or white roll-up window shades.

A convenient plastic occasional table equipped with rollers, and sliding doors to hide the mess, holds all the necessaries, keeping the space shipshape and tidy during nonpainting hours.

A lacy woven armchair with a high back is a happy place for reading or resting during a painting spree or any other time, and the carpet is made of a solution-dyed fiber that makes even paint spills less of a threat.

The same idea could be designed for a writer, by creating a handsome desk or typing surface, or for a small piano, or for just about any interest or hobby that means enough to you to convert your bedroom into a truly multi-purpose space.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

He Was Nice To Friendless Kid Who Now Steps All Over Him

RAP:

I'm always for the underdog. This kid didn't have any friends so I hung around with him a little and tried to show him the ropes.

He was a fast learner! This year, he's where I was last year, and I'm not doing so good. He's out to beat me at everything. He's even taken two girls away from me.

He makes the guys laugh at me and puts me down whenever he can.

I could have done that to him once —like the others did last year.

NTU:

Not always, but face it: Climbers are on the lookout for stepping stones, and nice guys make the walkin' easy.

NTU:

This quote from Robert Redford may make you feel better. Of his high school life, he says, "I. . .had a sense of others being wounded. If there was a guy nobody wanted on their team, I'd say, 'Hey, he can be on my team.' But here's the beauty part. Later that guy would always turn against me."

Eighteen years later he's still in there pitching for the underdog.

RAP:

Every girl in high school was out to make Tom fall for her, but he only used them. I dated him once and never got asked again. I wasn't swift enough.

Last New Year's Eve he got in a fight with a guy and now he's going on trial for manslaughter because the fellow died of a brain injury when his head hit a curb.

Tom says it was self-defense, but with his reputation for hot temper, he may go up for five years.

Helen and Sue, Tom is a changed person. He's lost a lot of friends since this happened, and he's become quiet and thoughtful. I've gone with him three times since he's been out on bail, and all he tried was a good night kiss.

Last night he said he needed someone who really cared about him, and he wanted something great to remember while he was in prison.

I'm not sure if I love him or not, but he needs me. I could hold out against him when he was just trying to make time and any girl would do, but now that I seem special to him, I'm tempted.

I'm a girl who always dreamed of waiting for marriage, but he says marriage is selfish, since he may be gone for a long time.

Should I or shouldn't I? — UNDECIDED

DEAR UN:

If you're so undecided you have to ask an outsider's advice, you want "No!" for an answer.

So my answer is, "Don't mistake pity for love, and don't get involved in a long wait for someone who may not be as 'changed' as you think." — HELEN

UNDECIDED:

You say, "Tom needs me," but do you need him? A guy who only turns to you when his other friends have left him, isn't the best risk. And that sympathy pitch sounds pretty thin. Don't start up something you'll regret —whether or not he goes to jail. — SUE

RESTING UP — Two Argentine Gauchos take a break in a scene from "All About Argentina," a new travel film which will be shown in Marin on March 18.

Argentina Film Set As Part Of Series

A film on Argentina, showing what life is like there in the 1970s, will be shown as part of the Explorama travel adventure film series at 8:15 p.m. March 18 at the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building.

Clay Francisco, producer of the film, will narrate "All about Argentina." Francisco formerly was with Time and Life magazines. His travels have taken him to more than 40 countries, and he has filmed stories of diverse peoples.

The Argentina film explores the country through the lives of its people, including those who live in Buenos Aires, the more primitive areas and resorts.

Featured is the story of the traditional Gaucho, who is shown at roundup time on the pampas and in various aspects of daily life.

Another highlight is the animal life that thrives on the Peninsula Valdez including guanaco, hare and armadillos, flamingos and other migratory birds.

Also featured is the saga of Juan Peron.

Psychiatrists Worried About 'Exorcist' Effect

CHICAGO (UPI) — "The Exorcist," filmed on location at Georgetown University in Washington, "is strong medicine," and two psychiatrists at Georgetown are concerned about the film's effects on suggestible persons, the American Medical News reported yesterday.

"'The Exorcist' is strong medicine, unquestionably the most shocking major movie ever made," the News said.

"One survey reported that an average of six men faint and six women vomit on every showing."

The weekly publication of the AMN said Drs. Richard Steinbach and James L. Foy are particularly concerned about the suggestion some viewers carry from the movie that their mental ills and problems stem from outside forces.

"The concept of 'The world's against me,' or 'Some fate is conspiring against me,' or even more pertinent, 'What the devil's got into me,' is common enough among all people," the AMN said. "But it can amount to a dangerous obsession among the mentally ill, they (the Georgetown psychiatrists) say."

"...It suddenly seems ironical that the profession has labored for the past 400 years persuading troubled persons that the devil hypothesis is pure hokum," the News quoted Foy as saying.

"The rising epidemic of cases of possession will find its natural explanations in brain disorders, hysterical phenomena disassociated mental states, and just plain psychoses," Foy said. "Freud and Jung, where are you when we really need you?"

"The Exorcist" is a movie about a young girl invaded by an evil spirit.

"Dr. Steinback told of a youth who has been unable to sleep for two weeks after viewing the movie," the News said. "He said he has encountered cases at Washington area Veterans Administration Hospital of people reporting severe anxiety."

The News said the demon raised by "The Exorcist" came home to Georgetown when a young man who feared he was suffering demonic possession showed up at the university hospital's psychiatric offices.

Young and any suggestible or delicately balanced people definitely should not attend the film, the news said the psychiatrists said.

Expense Tab For Novato Mayor Eyed

Novato's next mayor probably will have a $25 monthly expense account for mileage, lunches and other incidental expenses incurred on the job.

City councilmen called last night for a resolution setting the expense account as compensation for the added expenses of the mayor's office, effective March 15.

Mayor Fred F. Ruegg said his mileage last year on city business was more than 2,000 miles and he went to many lunches at which he picked up his own check.

Councilman George C. Quesada proposed that each councilman have a $25 a month expense account and the mayor $50, but the proposal faded.

Councilman F. Wayne Sartain reminded Quesada that council pay will be increased from $150 to $200 a month after the new council is seated next week.

The council also agreed to consider the possibility of having a telephone installed at the mayor's home for city business.

Ruegg said his home telephone has "been tied up for three hours at a time."

The council commended departing City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who was attending his last council meeting before leaving at the end of the week to become city manager in Milpitas.

Brown reported there was a chance the city might acquire the Atherton Swim Club; at least the possibility is being evaluated, he said.

He also reported that noninjury traffic accidents last year dropped 2.5 per cent to 928 and injury accidents dropped 23 per cent to 191, and he credited the radar enforcement program for reducing speed.

The Novato City Council also:

TACO BELL — Continued until March 26 reconsideration of its rejection of a Taco Bell restaurant at the southwest corner of Grant Avenue and Machin Street. F. Wayne Sartain, who opposes the restaurant design, dissented, and George C. Quesada abstained.

CIVIC CENTER — Authorized an agreement to have the state Department of Transportation become acquisition agent for seven parcels, opposite city hall, for civic center expansion, and also handle the resident relocation at a cost estimated at $12,000. The vote was 4-1 with Quesada dissenting.

STOP SIGNS — Heard appeals from about six residents for four-way stop signs at Raposa Vista and Novato Boulevard, but instead asked for staff recommendations for other steps that can be taken for traffic safety at the intersection. Last month more than 130 residents petitioned for the four-way stop signs.

TREES — Agreed to have a tree expert assess the condition of large, old trees along Novato Boulevard, since limbs fell in last week's heavy storm and the boulevard was blocked because of the hazard.

FLOODWAY ZONE — Unanimously adopted an ordinance to apply floodway zoning to the flood plain area between South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101, south of Diablo Avenue; zoning that regulates development to prevent increased flooding.

COMMUNITY HOUSE — Approved the "scope of work" including enlarging the council meeting room, for community house remodeling and authorized the staff to proceed with selecting an architect. Quesada, an architect, abstained.

BIDS REJECTED — Rejected all bids for a pedestrian and bicycle path along Seventh Street between Carmel Drive and Marion Avenue because a subdivision to be constructed in the area will have provisions for a bicycle route and there will be a sidewalk for pedestrians.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS — Approved hiring of short term maintenance crews to speed up improvements at six city parks, work estimated to cost $26,150.

GRAND JURY — Invited Novato residents who wish to serve on the Marin County Grand Jury to apply at Novato City Hall for city nomination to the grand jury, with the deadline April 1.

TRUCK — Awarded Empire Chevrolet of Novato, low bidder, a contract to provide a two-ton dump truck at a cost of $8,988.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

Boy Injured Darting In Car's Path

A 7-year-old San Rafael youth escaped serious injury yesterday after he darted in front of a car at the intersection of Ross Valley Drive and Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Robert Foisy of 251 Santa Margarita Drive was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries following the accident at 4:55 p.m. yesterday.

San Rafael police said the youngster saw a car stopped at the intersection and then darted into the path of another, apparently thinking he was crossing with the green light.

Two local residents last night told the San Rafael City Council that the accident stemmed from poor traffic control at the intersection, and urged improvement of the Miracle Mile traffic strip.

Councilmen noted that the thoroughfare is slated for widening late this year.

Multiple Injuries In Cycle Crash

Phelp's motorcycle and a car driven by William O. Bland, 58, of Richmond, collided at 4:35 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol. No other information was available.

Control Of Gasoline Customers Is Asked

The San Rafael City Council last night was urged to control some cavalier actions of people seeking gasoline in the city.

Clifford Elbing of 17 Broad View Court asked councilmen to crack down on service station customers who try to beat long lines by getting gas in portable containers, take more than their share of fuel by filling huge drums with gas, and people who smoke cigarettes near gas pumps.

Elbing also warned that gas stations might become easy targets for criminals lured by extraordinary cash flow due to heavy sales.

Councilmen said there is little they can do to control the situation, but said local police are working with station owners to cut traffic problems generated by throngs of customers.

In addition, the council reported that the San Rafael Fire Department is alerting service stations about the kinds of containers gasoline may be properly stored in.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Acting as the city redevelopment agency, said it will interview consultants for a redevelopment master plan at 7:30 p.m. March 19. Agency members also approved acquisiton of a parcel opposite the end of Lootens Place for $80,000.

LAUREL PLACE — Said Laurel Place will remain a two-way street, but slapped a two-hour limited parking regulation on the area to discourage downtown workers from using the roadway for all-day parking.

COURTHOUSE SQUARE — Under old business, adopted an ordinance required by city charter approving sale of Courthouse Square to McKeon Construction Co. Due to an oversight at city hall, the council failed to pass the measure when the square was sold in 1972.

LINCOLN HOTEL — Ordered a police crackdown at the Lincoln Hotel, scene of "continual problems," according to the city administration.

BICENTENNIAL — Said the city has received no application for San Rafael representative on the county Bicentennial Committee.

RESIGN — Accepted the resignation of parks and recreation commissioner Jack McPhee, and called for applicants.

CABLE TELEVISION — Said the city will form a citizens committee on cable television after staff develops goals of such a group.

PARAMEDICS — Told staff to study feasibility of developing a paramedic "trauma" team in the city.

SUPER COPS —Approved city participation in the county Central Investigations Unit project, a team of volunteer investigators formed to crack down on burglary.

FIRE LINE — Approved a $14,900 tab as the city's share of enlarging a fire line water main on 2 Locust Avenue. The funds will be matched by the Marin Municipal Water District.

MARINE CONTROLS — Referred to the San Rafael Canal Advisory Committee a series of three complex ordinances which seek to control sewage emission of small craft and spur fire safety at marine facilities.

POLITICS — Told Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner to develop guidelines for political signing in the city.

BIDS — Said five bids made on the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District will be returned to contractors unopened due to protests by property owners.

ADJOURNMENT — Set 8 p.m. March 25 for a status report on the city's financial condition and adjourned to 8 p.m. March 18.

Rock Group Offers To Buy Mansion

The Grateful Dead rock group has offered to buy the historic Robert Dollar mansion on Mission Avenue for $250,000, it was disclosed last night.

The group wants to use the mansion as a business headquarters, City Mgr. William J. Bielser told city councilmen.

The Dead's bid to acquire the parcel, as well as other offers, have been rejected by trustees of the Dollar estate who want $350,000, Bielser reported, noting that preservationists have eyed the estate as a cultural center.

The Dead's offer came to light as Bielser issued a status report on the mansion and councilmen affirmed a previous policy of awaiting completion of the emerging general plan before deciding on city participation in preservation of the structure.

The Dead offer is still alive since it has not been withdrawn, Bielser added.

Parking Ban Back Where It Started

Novato's controversial ordinance banning "oversized vehicles" from parking overnight on residential streets is back where it started several months ago.

Novato City Council last night received a petition signed by 598 persons charging the proposal to ban vehicles more than 7 feet wide or 20 feet long was "unduly restrictive of individual rights."

About 20 protestors appeared, several owners of campers and recreational vehicles that would have been ruled off residential streets at night.

They said, however, that the petitions were signed by many residents who didn't own such vehicles.

Councilmen by a 3-2 vote reverted to the original dimensions proposed last December, 8 feet wide and 24 feet long, a dimension that would permit most campers and recreation vehicles. Councilman George C. Quesada and David Price Jones dissented.

The ordinance with the larger dimensions will be up for adoption March 19.

Argentina Film Set As Part Of Series

A film on Argentina, showing what life is like there in the 1970s, will be shown as part of the Explorama travel adventure film series at 8:15 p.m. March 18 at the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building.

Clay Francisco, producer of the film, will narrate "All about Argentina." Francisco formerly was with Time and Life magazines. His travels have taken him to more than 40 countries, and he has filmed stories of diverse peoples.

The Argentina film explores the country through the lives of its people, including those who live in Buenos Aires, the more primitive areas and resorts.

Another highlight is the animal life that thrives on the Peninsula Valdez including guanaco, hare and armadillos, flamingos and other migratory birds.

Also featured is the saga of Juan Peron.

Psychiatrists Worried About 'Exorcist' Effect

CHICAGO (UPI) — "The Exorcist," filmed on location at Georgetown University in Washington, "is strong medicine," and two psychiatrists at Georgetown are concerned about the film's effects on suggestible persons, the American Medical News reported yesterday.

"'The Exorcist' is strong medicine, unquestionably the most shocking major movie ever made," the News said.

"One survey reported that an average of six men faint and six women vomit on every showing."

The weekly publication of the AMN said Drs. Richard Steinbach and James L. Foy are particularly concerned about the suggestion some viewers carry from the movie that their mental ills and problems stem from outside forces.

"The concept of 'The world's against me,' or 'Some fate is conspiring against me,' or even more pertinent, 'What the devil's got into me,' is common enough among all people," the AMN said. "But it can amount to a dangerous obsession among the mentally ill, they (the Georgetown psychiatrists) say."

"...It suddenly seems ironical that the profession has labored for the past 400 years persuading troubled persons that the devil hypothesis is pure hokum," the News quoted Foy as saying.

"The rising epidemic of cases of possession will find its natural explanations in brain disorders, hysterical phenomena disassociated mental states, and just plain psychoses," Foy said. "Freud and Jung, where are you when we really need you?"

"The Exorcist" is a movie about a young girl invaded by an evil spirit.

"Dr. Steinback told of a youth who has been unable to sleep for two weeks after viewing the movie," the News said. "He said he has encountered cases at Washington area Veterans Administration Hospital of people reporting severe anxiety."

The News said the demon raised by "The Exorcist" came home to Georgetown when a young man who feared he was suffering demonic possession showed up at the university hospital's psychiatric offices.

Young and any suggestible or delicately balanced people definitely should not attend the film, the news said the psychiatrists said.

Expense Tab For Novato Mayor Eyed

Novato's next mayor probably will have a $25 monthly expense account for mileage, lunches and other incidental expenses incurred on the job.

City councilmen called last night for a resolution setting the expense account as compensation for the added expenses of the mayor's office, effective March 15.

Mayor Fred F. Ruegg said his mileage last year on city business was more than 2,000 miles and he went to many lunches at which he picked up his own check.

Councilman George C. Quesada proposed that each councilman have a $25 a month expense account and the mayor $50, but the proposal faded.

Councilman F. Wayne Sartain reminded Quesada that council pay will be increased from $150 to $200 a month after the new council is seated next week.

The council also agreed to consider the possibility of having a telephone installed at the mayor's home for city business.

Ruegg said his home telephone has "been tied up for three hours at a time."

The council commended departing City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, who was attending his last council meeting before leaving at the end of the week to become city manager in Milpitas.

Brown reported there was a chance the city might acquire the Atherton Swim Club; at least the possibility is being evaluated, he said.

He also reported that noninjury traffic accidents last year dropped 2.5 per cent to 928 and injury accidents dropped 23 per cent to 191, and he credited the radar enforcement program for reducing speed.

The Novato City Council also:

TACO BELL — Continued until March 26 reconsideration of its rejection of a Taco Bell restaurant at the southwest corner of Grant Avenue and Machin Street. F. Wayne Sartain, who opposes the restaurant design, dissented, and George C. Quesada abstained.

CIVIC CENTER — Authorized an agreement to have the state Department of Transportation become acquisition agent for seven parcels, opposite city hall, for civic center expansion, and also handle the resident relocation at a cost estimated at $12,000. The vote was 4-1 with Quesada dissenting.

STOP SIGNS — Heard appeals from about six residents for four-way stop signs at Raposa Vista and Novato Boulevard, but instead asked for staff recommendations for other steps that can be taken for traffic safety at the intersection. Last month more than 130 residents petitioned for the four-way stop signs.

TREES — Agreed to have a tree expert assess the condition of large, old trees along Novato Boulevard, since limbs fell in last week's heavy storm and the boulevard was blocked because of the hazard.

FLOODWAY ZONE — Unanimously adopted an ordinance to apply floodway zoning to the flood plain area between South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101, south of Diablo Avenue; zoning that regulates development to prevent increased flooding.

COMMUNITY HOUSE — Approved the "scope of work" including enlarging the council meeting room, for community house remodeling and authorized the staff to proceed with selecting an architect. Quesada, an architect, abstained.

BIDS REJECTED — Rejected all bids for a pedestrian and bicycle path along Seventh Street between Carmel Drive and Marion Avenue because a subdivision to be constructed in the area will have provisions for a bicycle route and there will be a sidewalk for pedestrians.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS — Approved hiring of short term maintenance crews to speed up improvements at six city parks, work estimated to cost $26,150.

GRAND JURY — Invited Novato residents who wish to serve on the Marin County Grand Jury to apply at Novato City Hall for city nomination to the grand jury, with the deadline April 1.

TRUCK — Awarded Empire Chevrolet of Novato, low bidder, a contract to provide a two-ton dump truck at a cost of $8,988.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

Boy Injured Darting In Car's Path

A 7-year-old San Rafael youth escaped serious injury yesterday after he darted in front of a car at the intersection of Ross Valley Drive and Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Robert Foisy of 251 Santa Margarita Drive was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries following the accident at 4:55 p.m. yesterday.

San Rafael police said the youngster saw a car stopped at the intersection and then darted into the path of another, apparently thinking he was crossing with the green light.

Two local residents last night told the San Rafael City Council that the accident stemmed from poor traffic control at the intersection, and urged improvement of the Miracle Mile traffic strip.

Councilmen noted that the thoroughfare is slated for widening late this year.

Control Of Gasoline Customers Is Asked

The San Rafael City Council last night was urged to control some cavalier actions of people seeking gasoline in the city.

Clifford Elbing of 17 Broad View Court asked councilmen to crack down on service station customers who try to beat long lines by getting gas in portable containers, take more than their share of fuel by filling huge drums with gas, and people who smoke cigarettes near gas pumps.

Elbing also warned that gas stations might become easy targets for criminals lured by extraordinary cash flow due to heavy sales.

Councilmen said there is little they can do to control the situation, but said local police are working with station owners to cut traffic problems generated by throngs of customers.

In addition, the council reported that the San Rafael Fire Department is alerting service stations about the kinds of containers gasoline may be properly stored in.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Acting as the city redevelopment agency, said it will interview consultants for a redevelopment master plan at 7:30 p.m. March 19. Agency members also approved acquisiton of a parcel opposite the end of Lootens Place for $80,000.

LAUREL PLACE — Said Laurel Place will remain a two-way street, but slapped a two-hour limited parking regulation on the area to discourage downtown workers from using the roadway for all-day parking.

COURTHOUSE SQUARE — Under old business, adopted an ordinance required by city charter approving sale of Courthouse Square to McKeon Construction Co. Due to an oversight at city hall, the council failed to pass the measure when the square was sold in 1972.

LINCOLN HOTEL — Ordered a police crackdown at the Lincoln Hotel, scene of "continual problems," according to the city administration.

BICENTENNIAL — Said the city has received no application for San Rafael representative on the county Bicentennial Committee.

RESIGN — Accepted the resignation of parks and recreation commissioner Jack McPhee, and called for applicants.

CABLE TELEVISION — Said the city will form a citizens committee on cable television after staff develops goals of such a group.

SUPER COPS —Approved city participation in the county Central Investigations Unit project, a team of volunteer investigators formed to crack down on burglary.

FIRE LINE — Approved a $14,900 tab as the city's share of enlarging a fire line water main on 2 Locust Avenue. The funds will be matched by the Marin Municipal Water District.

MARINE CONTROLS — Referred to the San Rafael Canal Advisory Committee a series of three complex ordinances which seek to control sewage emission of small craft and spur fire safety at marine facilities.

POLITICS — Told Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner to develop guidelines for political signing in the city.

BIDS — Said five bids made on the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District will be returned to contractors unopened due to protests by property owners.

ADJOURNMENT — Set 8 p.m. March 25 for a status report on the city's financial condition and adjourned to 8 p.m. March 18.

Rock Group Offers To Buy Mansion

The Grateful Dead rock group has offered to buy the historic Robert Dollar mansion on Mission Avenue for $250,000, it was disclosed last night.

The group wants to use the mansion as a business headquarters, City Mgr. William J. Bielser told city councilmen.

The Dead's bid to acquire the parcel, as well as other offers, have been rejected by trustees of the Dollar estate who want $350,000, Bielser reported, noting that preservationists have eyed the estate as a cultural center.

The Dead's offer came to light as Bielser issued a status report on the mansion and councilmen affirmed a previous policy of awaiting completion of the emerging general plan before deciding on city participation in preservation of the structure.

The Dead offer is still alive since it has not been withdrawn, Bielser added.

Multiple Injuries In Cycle Crash

Phelp's motorcycle and a car driven by William O. Bland, 58, of Richmond, collided at 4:35 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol. No other information was available.

Parking Ban Back Where It Started

Novato's controversial ordinance banning "oversized vehicles" from parking overnight on residential streets is back where it started several months ago.

Novato City Council last night received a petition signed by 598 persons charging the proposal to ban vehicles more than 7 feet wide or 20 feet long was "unduly restrictive of individual rights."

Tons Of Hearst Food Given Away

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Volunteers handed out thousands of bags of free food today in Randolph Hearst's third attempt to convince his daughter's kidnapers to release her.

The third day of the "People in Need" free food giveaway began well in advance of the scheduled 10 a.m. starting time. Hundreds of persons lined up at the 11 outlets before dawn to get their free bag or box of groceries.

"It's a bad way to get food, but they are giving away free food so I might as well take it," said a 23-year-old mother of one on welfare who had been standing in line since 6 a.m.

Distribution of 35,000 bags and boxes of food worth some $300,000 got underway despite a continuing silence from the Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers, who abducted Miss Hearst more than a month ago.

The SLA has not been heard from for 12 days, in spite of pleas from Hearst and his wife to let them know their daughter was still alive and well, and from A. Ludlow Kramer, head of the food program, for them to tell him whether the free grocery giveaway was sufficient to meet their demands.

At one San Francisco outlet, each recipient was given a grocery bag or cardboard box containing a six-pound turkey, white bread, powdered milk, cottage cheese, peanut butter, lettuce, apricot preserves, cans of tomato juice, breakfast cereal, chili con carne, onions, a package of flour, oranges and tomato paste.

"I don't want the food, but it's not up to me—I need it for my kids," said a man who said he has been out of work for six months. "I don't find any job, that's why I get the food. I hope they let the girl free."

By 8 a.m., hundreds of people were lined up outside the 11 distribution sites in the San Francisco Bay area. And 20 persons even lined up at a church where food was given out last week, but was not on the list of giveaway sites for today.

Haldeman Proclaims Innocence

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — H.R. Haldeman concedes that "there were some things done wrong" but maintains he did not do them, he expects to be found innocent and he has no regrets.

"I've done nothing wrong, but I won't comment on the actions of others," the former White House chief of staff said yesterday in his first public reaction since he was indicted by the Watergate grand jury on charges of perjury and conspiring to obstruct justice.

"It's perfectly obvious there were some things done wrong," Haldeman told newsmen. "The point is, what were those things and who did them?"

He said he believes "that when the whole truth is known I shall be shown to be innocent of all charges."

President Nixon is "one of the great presidents this country has had" and he is proud to have served him, Haldeman said. "I have no regrets in ay way."

Asked if he had spoken to President Nixon since his indictment, Haldeman paused and answered that he had. He would not say what was said.

Haldeman looked tanned and rested as he met a group od reporters on the lawn in front of his comfortable Tudor-style house in the well-to-do Hancock Park district.

Haldeman said he cooperated with investigators. "Of course, I'm not happy to be indicted, but I am completely confident in the American judicial system."

Asked his personal reaction to his "fall from power" and "personal disgrace," Haldeman said the questioner "set up a premise I couldn't accept."

"I didn't feel, in the time I was in the White House, that I exercised any power," he said. "I was just on the staff there." He is not disgraced, he said, because he is innocent unless proven guilty.

Haldeman said he feels Watergate has had no effect on President Nixon's ability to govern and has no connection with the Republican party or the party's future.

"All government is held in low regard right now, the congressional branch as well as the rest," he said.

He said he was not worried that former associates, in plea bargaining for lighter charges for themselves, would agree to give strong testimony against him.

Tons Of Hearst Food Given Away

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Volunteers handed out thousands of bags of free food today in Randolph Hearst's third attempt to convince his daughter's kidnapers to release her.

The third day of the "People in Need" free food giveaway began well in advance of the scheduled 10 a.m. starting time. Hundreds of persons lined up at the 11 outlets before dawn to get their free bag or box of groceries.

"It's a bad way to get food, but they are giving away free food so I might as well take it," said a 23-year-old mother of one on welfare who had been standing in line since 6 a.m.

Distribution of 35,000 bags and boxes of food worth some $300,000 got underway despite a continuing silence from the Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers, who abducted Miss Hearst more than a month ago.

The SLA has not been heard from for 12 days, in spite of pleas from Hearst and his wife to let them know their daughter was still alive and well, and from A. Ludlow Kramer, head of the food program, for them to tell him whether the free grocery giveaway was sufficient to meet their demands.

At one San Francisco outlet, each recipient was given a grocery bag or cardboard box containing a six-pound turkey, white bread, powdered milk, cottage cheese, peanut butter, lettuce, apricot preserves, cans of tomato juice, breakfast cereal, chili con carne, onions, a package of flour, oranges and tomato paste.

Petaluma Plans New Sergeant

A member of the Petaluma police force will be promoted to sergeant within the next two weeks as a result of action last night by the city council.

Police Chief Larry D. Higgins was authorized to add a sixth sergeant to the force at a salary ranging from $962 to $1,169 a month.

Higgins said the additional man is needed so the city can have at least one sergeant on duty at all hours.

Installation of a 5,000-gallon gasoline storage tank for police vehicles was also approved by the council. City Clerk Lillian Nommsen said the tank is expected to cost between $4,000 and $5,000.

The Petaluma City Council also:

SIGNALS — Awarded a $3,500 contract to the consulting engineer firm of Martinez Associates for the design of traffic signals for the intersection of McDowell Boulevard South and McGregor Avenue.

BONDS — Received a resolution from the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce urging voters to support the library and recreation bonds in today's election.

SEWERS — Delayed a decision on whether to create a sewer district along Petaluma Boulevard North, where homeonwers now use septic tanks. The council decided to wait for a report from county officials on whether the tanks are a health hazard.

CENTER — Called for bids on the exterior painting of the Five Corners community center adjacent to city hall.

ART — Approved use of sidewalks on Petaluma Boulevard North and Kentucky and Keller streets, between Washington Street and Western Avenue, for an art show April 5 and 6 in conjunction with a sale by local merchants.

Tiburon Rejects Bio-Kinetics Idea

Bringing to an end many months of debate, the Tiburon Sanitary District board last night rejected a proposal from Bio-Kinetics of San Rafael to sell the district a sewage processing system to upgrade treatment at the district plan.

The district board voted unanimously to tell Bio-Kinetics that it has to try out its newly developed technique somewhere else before the board can consider it.

Board president James Murray said that the decision came after the Belvedere City Manager reported by phone that his city's council had just voted to oppose having the sanitary district sign up with Bio-Kinetics.

Bio-Kinetics had proposed building $1 million sewage treatment facility at the district plant. It would then lease this facility to the district at a rental of $113,000 per year.

The Bio-Kinetics process is a biological method using continuous harvesting of algae to produce an odorless effluent, according to the firm.

Several Tiburon residents including Tiburon City Councilman Allan N. Littman help manage the firm.

A sanitary district committee also reported last night that if the board agreed to the Bio-Kinetics proposal the district tax rate would rise to $1.20 per $100 assessed valuation from the 1973-74 rate of 73 cents per $100.

However, the decision against Bio-Kinetics still does not resolve the question of how the district is going to improve sewage treatment to bring the quality of its effluent up to state and federal standards. Murray noted that the board did not vote on the question of whether it will join as Belvedere has decided in a joint sewage treatment proposal which has been promoted by the Southern Marin Subregional Sewerage Agency.

Marks Bows From Race To Congress

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — State Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, announced yesterday that he will not run for the Fifth Congressional District, representing Marin and part of San Francisco. But he said he may run for the mayor's post in San Francisco next year.

Under the state reapportionment plan which is to take effect next January, Marks will be the lone state senator representing only San Francisco. He said he prefers to serve the city's needs either as state senator or mayor, rather than "from the distance of Washington preoccupied as it is with national affairs."

The congressional seat Marks has decided against competing for, was vacated today by Rep. William S. Mailliard, when he took oath of office as ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Gov. Ronald Reagan will have seven days to call a special election to fill the remainder of Mailliard's term through Dec. 31.

Marks said his interest in the mayor's post was sparked by a recent public opinion poll that showed him as the most popular choice for the job now held by Mayor Joseph Alioto — who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Applicants For Jury Are Sought

Marin's Superior Court judges are soliciting applicants for the 1974-75 grand jury from organizations and the general public in a bid to form a panel representing a broad cross-section of the community.

Newspaper advertisements and an invitation to 708 Marin organizations are expected to yield more than double the 78 persons who applied to serve on the current grand jury.

The five judges this year are making a special effort to select a grand jury as nearly representative of Marin's population as possible in response to criticism of composition of the 1971 grand jury by a visiting superior court judge.

Judge Vernon Stoll of Nevada County in January dismissed murder and conspiracy indictments against six San Quentin inmates charged in connection with an alleged escape attempt at the prison in August 1971.

Stoll ruled that "the means used by the selectors (of the grand jury) did not assure a fair representation" of blacks, chicanos, blue-collar workers and young people.

Marin judges subsequently decided to seek grand jurors from the populace at large rather than relying solely on names submitted by community groups, as in years past.

The judges will cut the 200 or so expected applicants to 40 or 50, then hold personal interviews to reduce the number to 30. The 19 grand jurors then will be selected by lot.

In a letter to potential jurors, the judges warn that service on the jury is "demanding and time-consuming" and that jurors are required to commit themselves in writing to at least 12 hours of work per week.

Anyone wishing to apply should request, in writing, a questionnaire from the Marin County Clerk, Room 151, Hall of Justice, San Rafael 94903.

The deadline for returning completed questionnaires is April 1, and 13 persons already have done so.

Boys Nabbed In Burglary

Acting on a tip by a neighbor, Novato police on Sunday arrested two boys hiding in a home they reportedly had burglarized.

Officers said the boys, 13 and 14 years old, were arrested at the home of Galon Domingo, 90 McKeon Court, at 9 p.m. with about $4 cash, jewelry and knives in their possession.

They were booked at Juvenile Hall on a charge of burglary.

Tam District Schools Cut Budgets $56,283

Schools in the Tamalpais High School District have trimmed their budgets for this year by $56,283 in anticipation of a $550,000 deficit next year, Supt. Robert D. Torrey said today.

As a result, Torrey has lifted a spending freeze on capital outlay and equipment replacement he imposed on the schools last November when the projected deficit was discovered. Torrey had said the freeze would be lifted as soon as schools trimmed their budgets for this year as much as possible.

Torrey estimates the state will withhold $287,000 next year because average daily attendance estimates for this year were above actual attendance figures. The remainder of the deficit is the result of the annual 5 per cent increase in salary scale, higher employee benefits and related items.

Previously, cuts totaling about $40,000 were made from the district office budget and central services which conduct districtwide programs such as drivers' education.

Redwood High School reduced its budget by $20,381, through reductions in individual departments. Major savings included $1,500 in supplies by the fine arts department, $3,301 from the school's library budget and $1,600 from noninstructional equipment budgeted for cable television.

Sir Francis Drake High School reduced its budget by $13,204, also through reductions in individual departments. Largest deferred savings were $1,682 from the social studies department and $1,500 set aside to hire substitute teachers for personnel who take leaves for personal business.

Tamalpais High School did not outline reductions by individual departments but estimated that $22,698 could be saved by revising overall budget policies. Tam's program continues the freeze on capital outlay at a savings of $3,396 and projects a $6,000 savings by limiting conference attendance by teachers and administrators.

A Challenge To Bridge Toll Raise

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco city attorney filed suit yesterday in superior court here challenging the Golden Gate Bridge directors' decision to raise toll on the span by 25 cents.

The suit filed by City Atty. Thomas M. O'Connor contends that three of the bridge directors representing San Francisco voted illegally.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors ordered O'Connor to file the suit to determine whether the bridge directors could vote contrary to city policy, but not to challenge the fare increase directly.

The suit as filed does not specifically ask for a rollback in the toll, but if the court rules the directors who voted in favor of the increase acted illegally, presumably the fare boost could be nullified.

The board of supervisors had passed a resolution opposing any toll boost and O'Connor maintained that San Francisco's bridge directors were obligated to follow that policy. Three directors, however, voted in favor of raising the toll to 75 cents, while the other six San Francisco directors voted against the boost.

Sausalito School Board Approves Ecology Study

An environmental education program involving study of Marin County ecology was approved last night by Sausalito School District trustees.

The program, developed in cooperation with the Mill Valley School District, is not to cost more than $1,400, trustees agreed.

Saturday field trips to natural areas in Marin are planned for a total of 55 pupils in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in the district.

The first outing will be March 16 to Duxbury Reef tidepools. The program, including trips to the Audubon Canyon Ranch, the Gerbode Preserve and Angel Island, will end June 1.

A bus will leave from Martin Luther King School at 9 a.m., returning at noon from most trips, according to Supt. Donald W. Johnson. Permission slips will be sent to parents and volunteers are being sought to assist three teachers and three teacher aides in conducting nature study, Johnson said.

In other business, district staff told trustees that because of higher assessment of property in the district the current tax rate of $1.60 per $100 of assessed valuation will produce $682,043 next year, an increase over this year's $653,859.

Trustees also met in closed session to discuss possible layoffs of teachers. They authorized the superintendent to send termination notices by March 15 if necessary.

Two teachers returning from leaves of absence and a possible decline in enrollment may force some teachers out of their jobs, Johnson said. The superintendent said he would know within a week if layoffs will be required.

Child Care Center Plan Is Accepted By Trustees

Plans for a child care center at Redwood High School generally were accepted last night by Tamalpais High School District trustees and the center will be considered for approval when trustees next meet March 18.

The proposal was prepared by the staff at Redwood and calls for a center for 12 children to be in operation by July 1 in a remodeled classroom.

Edward J. Neumeier, district administrative assistant, said supporters of the center had failed in attempts to gain outside grants to start the center so they are now asking trustees for $3,875 to begin operation. Of that amount, $2,000 will be used to pay a director until the center opens and $1,875 is needed to remodel the classroom, Neumeier said.

The center would then be self-supporting, according to Donald Kreps, Redwood principal.

Trustees asked staff to determine if present district insurance would cover the new center and will receive that report before adopting the proposal, Neumeier said.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

TAMALPAIS — Reduced to half time the assignment of Theodore Mitchell, Tamalpais High School assistant principal, through June 30. He will teach an administrative training program for the Carnegie Foundation during that time.

IMPACT — Declared that the Redwood High School athletic field and drainage project would have no significant impact upon the environment and thus does not require an environmental impact report.

DRAKE — Were told by Sir Francis Drake High School staff and students that the school's alternative education program has been successful since starting three years ago. The progress report was required when the program was first approved and no persons were at the meeting to criticize the program, according to Neumeier.

CLOSED — Met in closed session to meet with its salary negotiator and to hear charges against district personnel but took no action.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 18 at 8 p.m. in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

Sentence Given In Assault Case

A Marin City man who saw felony assault and drug charges reduced to misdemeanors as a result of a plea bargain has been sentenced to 90 days in jail by a Marin Municipal Court judge.

Joseph Hillard Fusilier, 28, pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon and possessing a device to inject narcotics, and was sentenced by Judge Robert A. Smallman.

Sheriff's deputies were called to Fusilier's apartment in October to investigate a report he shot at his wife, Susan, 19. While there, officers allegedly found heroin and paraphernalia for injecting it.

Recording Studio Bid Is Approved

Rock and roll singer Van Morrison yesterday won approval from the San Anselmo Planning Commission for a recording studio on San Anselmo Avenue.

Commissioners unanimously approved conversion of a former dry cleaning establishment at 35 San Anselmo Avenue into the rock and roll studio after first finding the new use would not conflict with the city's emerging general plan.

Commissioners' misgivings about noise that might be created by such a studio were dismised by representatives of Morrison who said the structure will be soundproofed.

The facility, which will be available for limited public use, will include a mobil van for on-location recordings, a Morrison spokesman told planners.

Reed To Consider Parent Meetings

A proposal from the Reed School District superintendent that each district school hold public meetings for parents to discuss possible future uses of district lands and buildings will be considered tonight at 8 o'clock at Del Mar School by the Reed district board.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said parents would discuss the district's options if enrollment continues to decline.

Film Club Slates Hitchcock's 'Psycho'

"It Came From Beneath the Sea," a light-hearted tale about a monster who attacks San Francisco, will also be shown. Proceeds from the event will benefit the school's environmental education class.

New Superintendent To Be Discussed

Novato Unified School District trustees are scheduled to discuss procedures for hiring a new district superintendent at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Novato High School Lecture Hall.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, March 5, the 64th day of 1974 with 301 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

American lithographer James Ives of the Currier and Ives team was born March 5, 1806.

On this day in history:

In 1770, British colonial troops killed five civilians in the so-called "Boston Massacre."

In 1953, the Soviet Union announced that Premier Josef Stalin had died at the age of 73.

In 1966, a British airliner crashed into Japan's Mt. Fuji, killing 124 persons aboard. In 1968, an Air France jetliner hit a mountain top in Guadeloupe, killing 62.

A thought for the day: Soviet Communist leader Josef Stalin said, "In the USSR, work is the duty of every able-bodied citizen, according to the principle: He who does not work, neither shall he eat."

Player Learns The Hard Way About The Needless Finesse

LOW HEART

West opened the eight of hearts, and South forgot his nursery rhymes. He decided to finesse.

East won with the king of hearts and wondered why his partner had led the eight. It couldn't be a fourth-best lead since it was impossible for West to have three cards higher than the eight of hearts. Obviously, West's lead was "top of nothing."

SEES NO VALUE

East saw no value in continuing a worthless suit, so he looked around for a better shot. Since dummy's spades and clubs looked forbidding, East shifted to the jack of diamonds.

This was proper punishment for South's careless play. No matter what South did, West could defeat the contract with three diamond tricks and the ace of spades.

TO FIRST TRICK

Now go back to the first trick. Before you play from dummy, count your tricks: four clubs, one heart, one diamond. Three spades are sure if you knock out the ace. Since these will assure the contract, you don't need a second heart trick.

Therefore take the first trick with the ace of hearts and lead spades to force out the ace. If the opponents continue hearts, you can get 10 tricks; if they switch to diamonds, you are still sure of nine.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 9 6 5 2
♥ - K 10 9
♦ - J 6
♣ - 9 8 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER:

Bid two spades or pass.

You have four points in high cards and one point for the doubleton. A pass is the "book" action. However, the raise is more enterprising and makes the bidding tougher for the opponents. A raise with four trumps seldom gets you into trouble and is therefore recommended to bold players.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KQED (9), 8 p.m. — "The Equal Rights Amendment" takes a look at the current status of the constitutional amendment which would forbid all forms of sexual discrimination on "Bill Moyer's Journal."

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 8:30 p.m. — Rock star Alice Cooper makes his dramatic debut as a witch who helps lead the Snoop Sisters to a group of Satanists in "The Devil Made Me Do It" episode of "The Snoop Sisters." Helen Hayes and Mildred Natwick, starring in the title roles, are also joined by Greg Morris, George Maharis, Joan Blondell and Cyril Ritchard.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — Elizabeth Montgomery stars as a young woman trapped in an isolated house by a violent storm, unaware that she is the next target for an unknown killer, in "The Victim," a top-rated suspense thriller which also stars George Maharis, Eileen Heckhart, Sue Ann Langdon and Jess Walton.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 11:30 p.m. — A psychotic killer holds six people captive in a sorority house, each realizing that the captor's mind, like a defective time bomb, could explode with terrifying results any moment, in "Sorority Kill." The taut drama stars Martha Scott, Jane Actman, Joanna Cameron and Tony Geary.

Sonoma State Play Scheduled

"The effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," a play by Paul Zindel, will be staged at 8 p.m. March 13 through March 16 in the Warren Auditorium of the Ives Hall of Music at Sonoma State College.

Named best American play in 1970 and winner of that year's New York drama critics' Circle Award, the play is a contemporary tragicomedy whose "meaning is not so much in the plot as in the message," according to director Andreas Horaites. "It has to do with radiation on the spirit — or the effects society has on an individual."

The student production will feature an all-girl cast.

Tomales Bay Hearing Slated

The State Fish and Game Commission will hold a public hearing on a management plan for the Tomales Bay ecological reserve on April 5 in the main auditorium of the Resources Building in Sacramento, Leslie F. Edgerton, executive secretary of the commission, announced yesterday.

The reserve includes tidal flats and marshes in the southern end of the bay which were purchased in 1972 from Waldo Giacomini, Point Reyes Station dairyman, by the State Wildlife Conservation Board.

Local sportsmen, protesting a hunting ban imposed last fall, persuaded the commission in December to lift the ban until a management plan for the area could be adopted. They have circulated petitions asking that it be declared a recreation area allowing hunting, fishing, boating and swimming.

LAND GIVEN TO LANDMARKS

This piece of property is going to be donated to the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society by real estate man Fred G. Zelinsky of Belvedere in honor of his 55th wedding anniversary this month. The corner at Tiburon Boulevard and Mar West streets is about one-half acre in size. Zelinsky estimates its value at $600,000. It is listed on the county tax roll as having a market value of $95,000. "My hope is that it will be used for historical purposes," said Zelinsky. "Possibly as a plaza or an office building for the landmarks society."

Increase In Disputes Is Predicted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The energy crisis, inflation and other factors will result in a record number of labor-management disputes in California during 1974, the state's top mediator said yesterday.

It also will be California's "most difficult and critical yzar" in the field of labor relations, according to Ralph Duncan, head of the State Conciliation Service of the Department of Industrial Relations.

"State conciliators were sorely tested last year, but 1974 will provide an ever greater test," Duncan said. "We must expect them (more disputes) because of inflation and the energy crisis.

"We will be pressed even more this year and we probably will have more difficulty finding agreeable solutions to problems," he said in a telephone interview.

"People on both sides have strong views; guys out of work because of the energy crisis, a plant that has lost customers, the guy who's working but has to buy groceries that are going up in price," Duncan declared.

During 1973, he said, the conciliation unit was called into 1,049 cases involving about 2.8 million public and private employes.

Most of the workers (628,000) were involved in labor-management agreements. The other cases included work stoppages and grievances.

"In 1974, contract negotiations will peak even higher, affecting about 745,000 workers" covered under large bargaining contracts, Duncan said.

Another factor adding to the number of disputes is the scheduled phasing out of federal wage controls next month.

"Many agreements (contracts) presently in effect have provisions that permit their renegotiation if wage controls are no longer in effect. We know it's a considerable number," Duncan declared.

Art Auction Set For March 16

The 11th annual "Irish Coffee Art Auction" sponsored by the Terra Linda Art Association will be held at 7 p.m. March 16 at the Marin Veteran's Memorial Building.

Programs For Young Are Planned

Two summer programs for youngsters in the fifth through eighth grades have been planned by the Marin Jewish Community Center, a spokesman said.

One will be a sports camp for boys held in two three-week sessions, one beginning June 28 and the other, Aug. 5.

Professional athletes and coaches will be guest instructors as well as a regular staff, who will give instruction in soccer, basketball, football, softball, track and field.

The other program, designed for both boys and girls, will consist of workshops in sculpture, ceramics, drama, dance, music, painting and drawing.

Sessions for the fine arts program also will start June 28 and Aug. 5.

Diseased Drunk Tried Outdoors

LONDON (UPI) — Magistrate Kenneth Cooje moved the court out into a car park yesterday to deal with a 20-year-old man on a drunk charge.

Cooke fined him $1.30 in the open air session—held in the car park of Tower Bridge Court because the defendant suffered from scabies, a highly-contagious skin disease.

Novato Needs Center Makes Food Appeal

The Novato Human Needs Center, shunning potential participation in the food distribution program connected with the Patricia Hearst kidnapping, is appealing to local residents to aid the hungry in Novato.

The center was asked last week by Switchboard of Marin if it would serve as the North Marin distribution point for the Poeple in Need food program, according to center director Henry B. Mattimore. The center board, at a special meeting, declined, he said.

"We all feel that what the Symbionese Liberation Army has done is wrong," Mattimore said. "But it is just as wrong to let people go hungry. We are betting that the people of Novato won't let that happen."

He said he was concerned that some Novato residents "are suffering from inadequate food. It's the old people living on fixed incomes, the disabled and, above all, children who are affected the most," he said.

"Nobody is dying of starvation, but people are undernourished," Mattimore said. "They are not getting enough protein, — meat, eggs, cheese — because these products are simply too expensive."

The increases in food prices has hit poor people the hardest and "for senior citizens on fixed incomes, it has been disastrous," he said.

The center is seeking help from not only individuals and churches, but also from grocery stores in Novato, he said. "The center's board of directors feels that Safeway, Cala, Mayfair, Roger Wilco and other food stores should be given the opportunity to participate in a local, grassroots effort to take care of our own hungry people," Mattimore said.

Persons wishing to donate food, time or money should notify the center, at 1523 South Novato Boulevard, he said.

BART Trains Breakdowns Up

An average of 8.5 train breakdowns per day occurred during December compared with eight breakdowns daily during November, BART reported Monday.

The report also said trains ran an average of 23 minutes, 12 seconds behind schedule in December — two minutes and 22 seconds slower than November.

Despite these service problems, passenger loads rose 2.6 per cent in December by carrying an average of 69,796 persons per day.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Reagan Signs Eased Conflict Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Although contending it will weaken the state's new conflict-ofinterest law, Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday signed a bill allowing public officials to keep the names of their private customers secret under the law.

The bill (SB1340) by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, was designed to clear up confusion over whether the new law requires officials to detail the names of their clients in disclosing their sources of income.

Reagan said he felt the bill weakens the new law, and "additional legislation is needed at this session to remedy a mediocre attempt to clarify the law." He said he will sponsor such a measure.

The conflict-of-interest law, which took effect Jan. 1, requires public officials to disclose the source of their income when it exceeds $250 from outside business interests.

The law has prompted some 60 public officials to resign from office rather than disclose their financial interests. Most of them quit because they thought the law would force them to disclose the names of individual customers or clients.

Reagan said Moscone's clarifying bill resolves some of the concerns of public officials that the law's "applicability and requirements" were uncleared.

"However," the Republican governor said, "I share the Assembly Republican Caucus' concern that Sen. Moscone has weakened the original bill to the detriment of the public's right to full disclosure.

TRANSIT FUNDS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, launched a drive yesterday to permit the use of highway tax funds for building public transportation systems and combatting pollution.

Mills opened his drive by riding a Bay Area Rapid Transit District train from Daly City to San Francisco and declaring the way to solve the gasoline shortage was to "build more BARTs."

SCHOOL WEEK

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill permitting California grade schools, if they wished, to conduct four-day-a-week classes to conserve energy has passed the Senate.

The bill (SB1545) by Sen. W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, was sent to the Assembly yesterday on a 28-1 vote, the minimum required. There was no debate.

TAX COMPACT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has voted to make California a member of a "Multistate Tax Compact" to work on tax problems which cross state lines.

On a 21-9 vote yesterday, the Senate approved the measure (AB1304) and returned it to the Assembly for concurrence in amendments. It was authored by Assemblyman Newton R. Russell, R-Tujunga.

Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, charged the bill would allow Standard Oil Corp. to escape $9 million a year in state tax.

The assertion was denied by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, who carried the measure in the Senate. He said it would not change California's tax laws.

SMOKING AREAS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A controversial bill aimed at creating special student smoking areas in California high schools has narrowly passed the Assembly.

The bill (SB71) by Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo, was sent to the Senate yesterday for concurrence in Assembly amendments on a 41-33 vote, the minimum margin needed for passage.

In an application filed yesterday with the state Public Utilities Commission, PG&E said the generator will have an operating capacity of 55,000 kilowatts when it is completed in January, 1977.

One generator is now under construction and scheduled for operation in October. Two other applications are pending before the PUC and PG&E intends to submit another application soon.

That's all well and good. The filter is an important part of your cigarette. (We know. We give you the most famous one of all: the Kent Micronite filter.)

But how many cigarettes have something to say about the other end? The tobacco end. The part that gives you what you smoke for. . . taste.

One brand that has plenty to say is Kent.

24 quality tobaccos are blended into each Kent. And we go to 3 continents, 4 countries and 10 states to find them.

We also insist upon the lower-leaf tobaccos for Kent. They're a lot milder than the leaves at the top of the plant.

In fact, we place as much importance on our tobacco as we do on our famous filter.

Because without either one, we couldn't give you the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

Kent. America's quality cigarette.

Spring: A Time For Baseball

My calendar says spring officially starts on March 21, but that prettiest of all seasons has already started as far as I am concerned.

For me, spring officially starts when the major league baseball players leave their homes for some limbering up exercises in Florida and Arizona. That's real spring, when you grab the newspapers to find out who the new phenoms will be THIS year. Last year's phenoms are all but forgotten on some obscure minor league roster somewhere.

Year after year, the same stories filter out of baseball spring training camps. The names are different but the content is about the same. Optimism runs high and the single word, "if" is heard being uttered from the sun-burned lips of managers.

"If my two left-handed starters win 35 games between them, we'll have a good chance to go all the way," or "If Charlie Hardswing has another good year, we just might win it all." Those "iffy" phrases come bouncing out of the diamonds and into the columns of the daily newspapers throughout the land.

THE OAKLAND A's — bless their souls — are a team which can come up with a way to make spring training stories much more exciting than the run of the mill yarns which explain why a certain pitcher's fast ball has more on it this year or why a new pitch added by another will increase his win-loss percentage. No, the A's seem to come up with something more meaty.

This year is no exception.

THE BIG STORIES out of the A's camp this time around concern rings. The A's players are angry because owner Charles Finley has gone back on his word by giving them World Series rings without diamonds.

After they won the 1972 Series, Finley awarded all the players World Series rings with diamonds in the center of green stones and the value is said to be about $1,500 each. The latest rings are identical to the '72 rings, except the stone is blank — no diamonds. One of the players had his ring appraised at $400.

Reggie Jackson has called the rings "trash" and Jim (Catfish) Hunter has angered Finley by calling him "cheap."

IT ALL MAKES me think back to Oct. 11 of last year, the day the A's defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-0, to win the American League pennant. It was a very emotional time for Finley, who with tears in his eyes, hugged Hunter, the man who had pitched that pennant-clinching victory, and said: "I'm standing next to one of the greatest athletes I have ever seen."

Hunter was standing there beaming, swigging on a bottle of champagne. "Last year we were given diamond rings for winning the World Series," said Hunter to the writers and television people, "and Mr. Finley said that if we won the World Series this year he would give us diamond rings that would make the others look like babies. I want to see those real big diamonds."

And Finley stood there smiling and nodding.

AS HISTORY NOTES, the A's did indeed go on to win the World Series and Hunter, as well as the other players, still wants "to see those real big diamonds."

Whether Finley gives his players rings without diamonds, rings with diamonds, or no rings at all is of no concern to me. The point is that Finley is not living up to his word. He promised diamonds and did not deliver.

But if he gets the A's angry enough, they just might go out and win another World Series, rings or no rings.

DEFENSE DOES IT

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Stars Bumbry, Kelly Sign

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Pat Kelly, the last of the Chicago White Sox holdouts, signed this morning after arriving at the club's Sarasota, Fla. camp.

Kelly agreed to terms after meeting with general manager Roland Hemond in their first face-to-face negotiations. Kelly's previous salary talks had been handled by agent Ed Keating of Cleveland. Kelly and Hemond said they were pleased with the outcome.

Bumbry, who hit .337 last year while playing almost solely against right-handed pitchers, signed for an estimated $30,000. Manager Earl Weaver has indicated he may use Bumbry, who stole 23 bases last year, against all kinds of pitching this season.

In addition to Bumbry, Oriole general manager Frank Cashen also got outfielder Jim Fuller and infielder-outfielder Enos Cabell to sign. Both are graduates of the Baltimore farm system and are conceded excellent chances of sticking with the parent club this year.

Fuller hit 39 home runs and drove in 108 runs last year. He also struck out 197 times with Rochester. Cabell split the season between Baltimore and Rochester, hitting .211 with the Orioles and .354 in 81 games with the International League club.

Seals Can Destroy Kings' Playoff Bid

INGLEWOOD (UPI) — For the second season in a row, the Los Angeles Kings are struggling to make it to the National Hockey League playoffs. And for the second season in a row, the Seals have a chance to knock them out of contention.

Last season, the Seals dumped Los Angeles twice in successive games in the final week to knock the Kings out of playoff contention.

In their third and final game on a six-day road trip, the Seals will again go with Marv Edwards in the goal tonight at the forum to give Gilles Meloche an extra day of rest for tomorrow's home appearance against Chicago.

Edwards played his first game since he suffered a knee injury three months ago Sunday at New York, where the Rangers won 8-2.

Center Stan Weir has a knee injury and won't play against the Kings here tonight but could be ready for the Hawks. The Seals are expected to call up someone from Salt Lake City to play tonight.

Offensively, wing Reggie Leach has been playing well for the seals of late with three goals in the last four games to run his season's mark to 18 goals and 21 assists.

Finley's Move In Green's Case

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) — Dick Green, who retired last year as the Oakland Athletics' second baseman, may be ready to return to the World Champions.

He said he received an attractive offer from A's owner Charlie Finley Thursday night but has not heard from Finley since.

Green retired before the 1971 season, too, but was talked into playing by Finley and Manager Dick Williams. Finley apparently had done the same thing last week.

"Our differences are strictly financial," said Green. "And we are not that far apart. He just hasn't called."

Green says that he liked new A's pilot Alvin Dark when he played under him at Kansas City and would be happy to play for him again.

"He's a fine man and has one of the best baseball minds. He knows the game backwards and forwards," said Green.

Dark is having problems with second base. Manny Trillo says he was first promised the starting job and then had the offer taken away from him. Ted Kubiak is back to fight Trillo, and maybe Green, for the starting job.

Traub, DeMaestri Play Sonoma

Two former College of Marin Tar stars, unexpectedly given a chance to display their skills near home, will be trying to send Sonoma State College staggering out of basketball contention tonight.

Neil Traub and Joe DeMaestri will lead the University of San Diego onto Sonoma State's floor in Rohnert Park tonight at 8 o'clock.

The occasion is a special first-round game in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) College Division Western Regional tournament.

Sonoma State (16-9 overall) was tied by Chico State for the Far Western Conference title at 9-3, but Chico's superior overall record (18-8) enabled it to go directly to the main site of the Regionals at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. Tonight's winner will join three other teams there this weekend.

Traub, a 6-foot-9 center, and DeMaestri, a 6-0 guard, have been starters and key men for a San Diego team which recovered from brutal adversity to make the tournament.

Traub has played all 26 of his team's games, averaging 12.2 points and 10.0 rebounds. He shot 45 per cent from the floor. DeMaestri has played in 23 contests, averaging 8.6 points and 4.2 assists. He hit 52 per cent.

Independent San Diego (16-10 overall) was struggling along with a 9-8 record and had suffered the loss of the second highest scorer in its history, 6-7 forward Robert (Pinky) Smith, averaging 16.3. He suffered torn leg ligaments.

In addition, 6-6 forward Ben Thompson and 6-1 guard Joe Smith (also a College of Marin product) became academically ineligible.

Rallying, San Diego upset major college foe Washington State and later reeled off a season-ending, five-game winning streak over prestigious opposition, beating U.C. Riverside (then 17-3), U.S. International (20-2) and Grand Canyon of Arizona (24-0) — for a 3-0 record against teams with a combined 61-5 mark.

The playoff-clinching victory over Chapman was almost anticlimactic, but it was a high point for Traub, with 20 points and 18 rebounds, both season bests. DeMaestri's top is 17.

Walton, Wilkes Are All-America Picks

Thompson, 2 Others On Squad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two-time player of the year Bill Walton of UCLA was joined by frontcourt teammate Keith Wilkes as the Bruins placed two men on the 1973-74 United Press International all-America major college basketball team.

The two UCLA seniors were joined on the first team by juniors David Thompson of North Carolina State and John Shumate of Notre Dame and senior Marvin Barnes of Providence.

The 6-foot-11 Walton made the first team for the third successive year, a feat matched by only six other players in the 26-year history of the UPI teams, the last being Calvin Murphy with Niagara and Pete Maravich with Louisiana State University in 1968-70.

The 6-4 Thompson is also a repeater from last year's team, while Wilkes, 6-7, Shumate, 6-9, and Barnes, 6-9, are on the first team for the first time.

In the balloting by 241 sportswriters and sportscasters from across the nation, Walton compiled 478 points out of a possible 482 — named by all but four voters on the first team — to lead all vote-getters for the past three seasons, the first to accomplish this feat.

In addition to the first team selection of Thompson, the Atlantic Coast Conference put four men on the second team to join the National Collegiate Athletic Association's leading scorer, Larry Fogle of Canisius. With Fogle on the second unit are Maryland's Tom McMillen and Len Elmore, North Carolina's Bobby Jones and Thompson's teammate Tom Burleson.

MATTHEWS SIGNS

Maddox Last Of Giant Holdouts

Matthews hit .300 and drove in 58 runs with 12 homers last year. He signed a 1974 contract for around $36,500 as compared to $17,000 last season.

No progress has been reported in talks with Maddox, who hit .319 last season.

In other developments at Giants camp yesterday, four more members of the Giants were felled by the flu virus which has now struck 26 times.

Manager Charlie Fox also disclosed that the Giants are trying to acquire a third catcher. He said the opening day (April 5) roster would also include 10 pitchers, six infielders and six outfielders.

Right now there are only two receivers in camp — starter Dave Rader and backup man Mike Sadek.

That means the Giants still are searching for a third and Fox concedes "we're talking to several clubs at the major league level and we hope to get another catcher by at least the middle of the exhibition season."

Fox says the key credential for the new receiver would be the ability to handle and help young pitchers. "We don't care if he hits only six and seveneights," Fox added.

A highlight in yesterday's workout was the defense shown by Dave Kingman at third base. Fox wants to go with Ed Goodson at first and Kingman at third this season to get both big bats in the lineup but Kingman has often had his problems in the field at third.

Ailing Warriors To Host Detroit

OAKLAND (UPI) — Rick Barry and Nate Thurmond both are taking treatments on sore legs as they try to get in shape for tonight's 8 o'clock National Basketball Association game with tough Detroit.

Thurmond hurt his foot almost three weeks ago against Atlanta. Since then, he has been in and out of the lineup as first the ankle, then the arch and then the heel have given him trouble. But he did play long and well as the Warriors split a pair of weekend encounters.

Barry sprained his ankle in the third period of the 108-104 loss to Los Angeles Sunday, but appears confident he can play tonight.

"As of now," he says, "I think I'll be able to play. But it could be I'll get out on the court and it will be no go. The thing I've got going for me is that I've sprained the ankle so many times before. It really isn't that serious. If somebody else had done it, he might be out for a long time."

Detroit has beaten the Warriors three times in as many tries this season but is currently riding a cold streak that has seen them drop seven of their last 12 and four of their last five.

PLAYERS' SHARES DOWN

NFL's Gross Revenues Rise

CHICAGO (UPI) — George Burman, a center with the Washington Redskins, says the National Football League's gross revenues shot from $102 million in 1969 to $178 million last year, while the players' share dropped from 37 per cent to 25 per cent.

Burman, who also is a statistical analyst and retired after last season, told the NFL Players Association Convention yesterday that the owners retained 30 cents and the players received 25 cents on every dollar taken in last season.

He made his presentation shortly before the Players Association agreed to accept the cost of group life and health insurance for its members for at least one month when the policy provided by league owners expires March 31 along with the current players contract.

Cost of continuing the insurance was estimated at about $35,000 a month. The association said individuals players will be asked to cover the cost of their family policies, estimated at $30 a month.

"We cannot allow our members and their families to be without health and hospital benefits," NFLPA Executive Director Ed Garvey said. "In fact, if we are unable to contact all players by the end of the first month, our players' board has authorized us to continue for a second month.

"You can be certain that our (contract) negotiations with the owners will include retroactive payment of insurance premiums that have been paid by the NFLPA or our players."

Association President Bill Curry said Burman's analysis of league profits, which also indicated each club's average pre-tax profits has increased from $500,000 a year to $2 million a year from 1969 to 1973, was "not an effort to elicit sympathy."

Winds The Factor In Next Few Days

It was a blustery day last Saturday, so most of the salmon boats stayed in the harbor at Sausalito. Sunday, most of the fleet made it out okay and those fishing at Double Point generally caught limits and were home early. The winds will be the big factor this month.

I talked to Rich Urbais of the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop about rockfishing. He figures to have the Blue Horizon out for its first trip Friday. New skipper Mike Lund plans to try the action at the Farallones. If the weather is good, fishing is expected to be good. Reservations should be made through Rich at the bait shop. Starting time at the dock will be 5:30 a.m. Prices for the rock fishing trips are $11 for Fridays and $13 Saturdays and Sundays. The boat holds 48 fishermen, so if you plan to go, call Rich early.

SAN PABLO BAY was fairly rough Saturday, but two anglers came into Loch Lomond harbor with five stripers. They were using that new bait — live mudsuckers. Warden Russ Ild and I were studying the hot spot near McNear's Beach and the Sisters from the park area, but all we saw was one fisherman illegally using two rods, so we went out in the patrol boat and cited him.

Dick Kennedy and Bill Yager took sturgeon Saturday weighing 53 and 49 pounds. Quite a few sturgeon were taken Sunday with Gene Tom nailing the biggest — a 75 pounder — at the Bridge. Grass shrimp was the bait.

CALIFORNIA'S recent annual winter waterfowl survey for 1974 showed that duck populations increased 18 per cent over last winter. The census tallied 5,605,000 ducks which was an increase of 35 per cent over the 20 year average for these surveys. Pintails were the most numerous with 3,341,000 tallied; they accounted for most of the increase in the duck numbers. Other species showing increases were widgeon, 739,000; mallards, 544,000, and green winged teal, 230,000. Spoonie numbers were down (476,000) from last year. The count of geese (658,000) was up 37 per cent over last year. Snow geese at 431,000 birds predominated in the tally.

From the fall surveys, it appeared that populations were at about last year's level. However, with the poor hunting season more birds showed up on the winter survey. Habitat conditions were ideal for the safety of the birds this year. The heavy rains created much temporary habitat and the birds used these isolated areas much of the time.

I'VE BEEN HUNTING deer all my life, but I never learned exactly what the so called "liver fluke" really was. Every time anyone of us got a buck, we usually checked the liver for white spots which designated the liver fluke condition.

Recently, I met with Oscar Brunetti, the head Department of Fish and Game laboratory man. We were discussing deer, when the liver fluke question came up. Oscar described liver fluke as a type of disease caused by a parasite called a fluke. The adult fluke, when in the bile duct of the deer liver, deposits eggs there. These are passed by the deer in its feces droppings to pasture areas. If the egg gets into water such as in a pond, the fluke development starts. The parasite from the egg development travels in the water and enters a type of snail found in the pond. It further develops in the snail eventually becoming free swimming again. It then attaches itself to aquatic vegetabion, then it is ingested by the deer to again find the liver for egg laying.

The liver, though showing signs of damage, is not harmful to humans. You cannot get the parasite from eating an infected liver; though the liver as food, may have an off flavor. Oscar says the real danger would be to drink water, or to eat a grass such as water cress which might permit the potential egg laying fluke to enter your system and reach your liver, though this has been a rarity as far as he knows. If this happened, an operation would be the cure.

Clark Has Sweet Revenge

Combined AP & UPI

OAKLAND — It was sweet revenge for heavyweight boxer Henry Clark.

Unranked Clark of San Francisco knocked out 10th-ranked heavyweight contender Jeff Merritt at 47 seconds of the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder last night at the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

A left hook sent Merritt across the ring and onto his haunches and although the Cleveland heavyweight beat the count, he rose only to be met by a right to the chin which floored him again. Referee Tony Bosnich started a count but then waved the fight over with Merritt obviously unable to get up.

It was only Clark's seventh knockout in 39 bouts and he now has a 27-8-4 record. The win evened a loss Clark suffered to Merritt by decision in New York in 1969.

BURLINGAME — Sue Chan of the San Rafael Gymnastics Club has won the all-around title with 31.4 points of a possible 40.0 in the U.S. Gymnastics Federation local class two qualifying meet at Burlingame High School.

Miss Chan won floor exercise (8.2) and uneven parallel bars (7.9) and was second in balance beam (8.10) and fifth in vaulting (7.0) for her total.

The victory qualified her for the zone championships March 23, also at Burlingame High.

The Hornets' lone run came on a fourth-inning single by Larry Caples, scoring Jeff Pond, who had reached on a two-base throwing error and moved to third on a wild pitch.

Vic Levine shot 38 and Mark Ohrenschall 39 to lead Redwood over the par-35 course. Ed Matthews led Drake with 40 and Jim Mullowney and Mike Tibbetts headed Terra Linda with 43s.

SWIMMING PROSPECTS

Favored San Rafael Finds Out If Coaches Correct

By LEW CODDINGTON

San Rafael High School has been tabbed by most coaches as Marin's probable swimming champion of 1974, and the coaches should know by tonight if their thinking is correct, since the Bulldogs were to face their most likely rival this afternoon.

San Rafael swam at Terra Linda in its second meet of the 12-meet Marin County Athletic League season, which is scheduled to run through April 23, with post-season competition to follow.

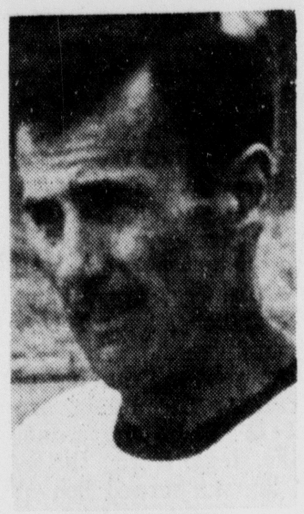
After finishing third the past two seasons, San Rafael has assembled a team under coach Bill Ranney which is loaded with speedy, versatile performers.

"It's a good, solid team without too many weak points," Ranney said. "We have a number of kids who can do anything, who can swim any event."

In this class are Joe Dunn, Bob Placak, Jeff Kamler, Mike Keck, Ken DeMont, Sig Baerthel and Dan Peterson. DeMont, the brother of Olympian Rick, has transferred from Terra Linda.

Their versatility leaves Ranney free to devise literally thousands of different lineups, virtually all of which strike fear into the heart of the opposition.

Nor do the Bulldogs figure to be hurt by the new scoring system instituted this year. Instead of scoring five points for first place, three for second and one for third, it's 6-4-3-2-1. Relays are 8-4-2 instead of 7-0. Depth counts more than before, and a handful of standouts will garner fewer points for a team.



BILL RANNEY
Hopes for Title

Terra Linda also has good depth behind its group of standouts. Dan Stewart and Bill Power are good breaststrokers, Mitch Young swims freestyle, Tom Olund takes care of the butterfly and freestyle, and Chris Jones, Chuck Schmitz and Mike Russo handle the distances.

Several other teams have outstanding individuals, but their chances are limited by lack of depth.

Defending champion Redwood was hit hard by graduation. The Giants still have Dave Russell and Matt Lager to handle a variety of strokes and Mike Lindstrom for the sprints.

San Marin has an outstanding trio led by Art Morrill with Russ Testa and Bob Venema. All three are versatile and they combine to make up a formidable relay team.

Novato has a young, rebuilding team which figures to reach top form toward the end of the season. As of now, Bob Patocchi is its leading swimmer. At Tamalpais, Dick Atwood figures to take most of the honors.

Several outstanding divers will demonstrate their skills. Tom Schindler heads a Redwood crew which includes Scott Ballinger, Rob Setrakian and Norris Holton. San Marin offers Kirk Schreil, with Bill McCane to back him up. Novato has Rick McNally. Drake features Bob Navioux and up-and-coming Mark Gately.

One new event has been added this year — the 500-yard freestyle, replacing the 400 free as the longest event on the card.

There are four coaching changes this year. Jim Naugle has moved from Novato to San Marin, replacing Dave Barni, and being replaced at Novato by Joe Morgan. Dennis Untermann, who coached Redwood's water polo champions, took over swimming from Rusty McManus. Dennis Good replaces Bill Anderson at Tam.

Other coaches are Ranney, Terra Linda's Bob Pollitt and Drake's Dave Ramos. Marin Catholic has no team.

Anatomy Of A Non-Story: One Giant Hoax

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — Wait until Clifford Irving gets a load of this one.

In mid-February, the sports green of the San Francisco Chronicle, the biggest circulation newspaper in northern California, headlined a story which had Ken Holtzman, who won 21 games for the world champion Oakland Athletics, blasting owner Charley Finley as a "cheap SOB," Marvin Miller (director of the Players Association) as a "big phony" and asking to be traded.

A terrific newsmaker, right? Wrong.

Kenny Hotlzman never said any of those things. Wells Twombly, the sesquipedalian columnist of the rival San Francisco Examiner, did.

And how his remarks got into the Chronicle is bizarre and would be hilarious, except that the whole thing made a couple of veteran sports editors embarrassed, the perpetrator smug and smirky and Holtzman hollering legalistically, "My wife and I have suffered mental anguish."

As a sports and journalistic flub, it transcends a local story. As a comedy of errors, it beats the Three Stooges.

On a Tuesday night, working against deadline, the Chronicle's sports desk processed a routine account by Bob Stevens, its longtime baseball writer, on baseball arbitration proceedings that day. Stevens finished his stint and went home. Since Holtzman, the star southpaw of the world champs, was a key figure in the initial arbitration, sports editor Art Rosenbaum asked Jack Fiske, normally a hockey and boxing writer, to call the pitcher for some quotes.

Fiske was directed to the mail pigeon hole of Jack Smith, another Chronicle writer, and found a scrap of paper with a phone number. He dialed and, according to Fiske, the voice on the other end answered, "Kenny Holtzman here, 21-game winner for the Oakland A's."

Then Fiske said he ifentified himself as a Chronicle writer and asked some questions. The "Holtzman" diatribe followed. Fiske went back to Rosenbaum and reported the quotes.

"That sounds like a great story," said Art. "But it doesn't sound like Ken Holtzman. Was he drunk?"

Fiske shook his head.

"Was he coherent?"

"Yeah," nodded Fiske, who had never before communicated with Holtzman. "He was really ticked off," added Jack.

So Rosenbaum played the story as a sports page banner; picking up the quotes by Fiske, still leaving the Stevens' by-line on it.

"It sounded credible," shrugged Art later, "for another Oakland player to complain, after what we've heard in the past from Reggie Jackson and Vida Blue. And the answers were so germane in terms of baseball.

But the voice on the other end of the telephone belonged to Wells Twombly, who squirts words like a seltzer bottle at a drunken brawl. It seems Smith of the Chronicle was supposed to dine at the Twomblys and the phone number had been left for him.

Twombly has a habit of answering calls with strange names. "It would be the coincidence of all time," said Rosenbaum, "if Twombly opened his conversation as Holtzman."

Twombly claims he thought it was a crank. But since Twombly has an unlisted phone because of such calls, how would a crank get the number?

Anyhow, he carried out the masquerade as Holtzman right to the end of the phone interview, and Fiske never caught on. Nor did Twombly ever tip off the gag.

Ten minutes later, when thought buds began to sprout, Twombly called his own newspaper and advised the sports desk that if a story on Holtzman appeared in the Chronicle to disregard it. No attempt to warn the morning paper.

The story ran all right, headlined: "Holtzman Blasts 'Cheap Finley' " — and the next morning there were furious denials by the pitcher. Even Howard Cosell got on the horn to get Holtzman's denial. The Chronicle ran a retraction a day later. Fiske was sallow. "I got egg on my face," said Rosenbaum.

Donaldsons Win On Pac-8 Mat

The Donaldson twins of Novato will be journeying to snowbound Iowa in the middle of March — and loving every minute of it.

Kirt (126 pounds) and Ken (134) qualified for the National Collegiate Athletic Association wrestling tournament at Iowa State University in Ames March 14-15-16 by winning their weight classes at last weekend's Pacific-8 meet.

The two seniors at UCLA vanquished opponents from Washington State in the finals — Kirt taking Brad Jacot, 8-4, and Ken defeating Toshi Oonishi, 4-3. Each won two matches previously.

In tires, it's not the price you pay. It's how often you pay it.
This steel belted Radial Tire carries the Michelin Warranty* for 40,000 miles on the original tread. (Many owners get much more.) Puncture resistant Michelins give precise steering control, and smooth driving comfort. So stop in and start saving today.
40,000 MILE WARRANTY
*Michelin's Warranty for X Radial Highway Passenger Tire shown here covers tread life, normal road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) and defects in workmanship and materials for 40,000 miles, when tire is used on passenger vehicles in normal service in continental United States, except Alaska. Credit or refund (at Michelin's option) is equal to current actual selling price multiplied by percentage of warranted mileage not run on tire.
SAVE ON YOUR FUEL COSTS
Because of the lower rolling resistance of Michelin "X" radials over conventional bias-ply tires, you might get as much as 10% savings over your present gas consumption. This means more miles per gallon of gas. It means dollars saved. And it means that less fuel has to come out of the economy to keep your car on the road.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Getting In On Gold Rush

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in investing but don't know how to go about it. Could you give me this information and the name of a stock for a beginner? What is the smallest amount I should start with? — G.B.

A. There are many brokerage firms located in your metropolitan area. Why not check with your acquaintances or at your bank for a recommendation of one of these firms. However, any of the larger retail brokers, a New York Stock Exchange member firm preferably, would be suitable. Opening an account at the chosen firm is a simple matter, no more difficult than opening a department store charge account. An initial investment of around $1,000 would probably make a good start for you.

At this time with inflation rampant, investors have been flocking into gold mining companies. Two attractive methods of participating in the rising price of gold are through a direct investment in one of the South African gold mining companies — or through a mutual fund such as International Investors which holds shares of many such companies. The latter has been the best acting mutual fund in the last two years. Net asset value rose 58 per cent in 1972 and 93 per cent last year. The minimum investment allowed is $1,000 and there is an 8.75 per cent load fee when the shares are bought. Thus, these shares with a net asset value of about $19.20 currently would cost around $21 to buy. There is no charge when the shares are redeemed.

For a direct investment in a South African mining company, shares of Kloof Gold Mines, trading over-the-counter, are recommended. In this case, you would buy the American Depository Receipts which simplify ownership. Dividends on the ADR's are paid in U.S. dollars and stock transfers are faster than with the foreign shares. The company is milling about 170,000 tons monthly, a rate which should be raised to 230,000 tons by 1981.

Signs Of Oil Embargo End Sends Prices Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks climbed sharply today on the New York Stock Exchange amid strong signs the Arab oil embargo will end soon. Trading was hectic.

Nearly all market groups participated in the rally, except the gold mining stocks which frequently run counter to the general market.

Investors also were cheered by statements from Saudi Arabian spokesmen oil prices probably would decline once production increases. Earlier yesterday, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said he had called for a meeting of Arab oil ministers next Sunday to discuss the ending of the oil embargo.

Oil stocks were among the best early performers. Superior climbed 3⅜, Halliburton and Getty 2½ apiece. Point-sized gainers included Phillips Petroleum, Texaco, Atlantic Richfield, California Standard and Schlumberger.

Chemicals listed among the Dow 30 industrials also advanced strongly. Dupont rose 3½, Eastman Kodak 2⅜, and Allied Chemical 1¼.

Howard Johnson, the volume leaders, added a point to 10 on 252,500 shares, including a 125,000-share block at 10¼.

Stocks also rallied strongly in stepped-up trading on the American Exchange. Champion Home Builders was the most active, up ⅜ to 5 on 123,800 shares.

Old Philosophy Being Employed

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — A land studies educator believes national alarm over a total depletion of domestic natural gas reserves may be premature by as much as a generation, and can best be overcome by a return to simple philosophy.

Dr. Frank B. Conselman, president of the American Institute of Professional Geoscience, suggests a return by the industry to the philosophy of "seek and ye shall find."

"If we do not drill exploratory wells, we get no more discovries," he said. "Or, as has happened, if we decrease our drilling, we decrease our discoveries and our reserves must inevitably decline as withdrawals continue."

Budget Rent-A-Car Of Marin To Open April 1 In San Rafael

Budget Rent-A-Car of Marin will open for business about March 15 or April 1 in San Rafael at 20-A Bellam Boulevard in front of the Yellow Cab Co. It will take over space formerly used as a car wash, in front of the entrance to the drive-in movie.

The San Rafael franchisees of Budget Rent A Car are John R. Taggart of San Rafael and Donald N. Johnson of San Francisco. Taggart, who has been with Budget Rent A Car in San Francisco for about seven years, will be general manager of the San Rafael franchise. Johnson has been in the time-clock business in San Francisco for about 20 years.

Johnson said the Budget Rent A Car of Marin will be engaged exclusively in car renting, unlike other car rental agencies in the county which normally operate in conjunction with service stations and auto dealerships.

Budget Rent A Car, serving all of Marin, may open suboffices in Novato and Corte Madera, said Johnson.

A NEW RESTAURANT is being sought at Mark Twain Square in Santa Venetia where the Opa restaurant folded last month.

Kurt Leswing of Leswing Communications Inc., developer of Mark Twain Square on Adrian Way, said he is negotiating with a restaurateur, who hopes to bring Greek food and dancing to the area.

A Quik Stop market is also scheduled to go up this spring at Mark Twain Square, corner of Adrian and La Pasada Ways.

Opa restaurant, which featured Mideastern food and entertainment, closed early in February after eight months of operation by David and Iris Ergas of Mill Valley.

"ALCATRAZ '46", a new book on an American Indian who was held in prison for 28 of his 46 years, will be published next month by Leswing Press Inc. at 750 Adrian Way, Santa Venetia. Leswing will sell a limited number of collector's editions of the book before it goes on public sale.

Clarence Karnes, an American Indian, was jailed at age 18 for kidnaping and murder and sentenced to life in prison. He was transferred from Alcatraz when it closed in 1962 and sent to an honor farm in Oklahoma, where he was released last Christmas Eve. "Alcatraz '46" is a story of an attempted prison break by six convicts in 1946, as told to Don DeNevi, professor at Merritt College in Oakland.

ROGER S. SHERIDAN of Kentfield, designer of annual reports for national and multinational corporations, has opened Sheridan Co. at 300 Broadway in San Francisco.

Sheridan was with Landphere Assocates in San Francisco for 24 years as salesman and art director until he opened his own office last week.

Sheridan Company offers complete graphic services to corporations and advertising agencies.

MARIN PAINT STORE at 639 San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo, which has been in operation for 27 years, is under negotiation for sale by owner Bertram H. Bowes, who bought another paint store in Sacramento and plans to move there.

Prospective purchasers of the paint shop are Anthony and Jan Albrecht and Jacob M. Hansen, all of San Anselmo. Hansen, who has been in Marin about four years, was a car salesman for about a year and a half. He said the Albrechts came to Marin about a year ago from Kansas, where they were attending the University of Kansas.

The new owners plan to take over Marin Paint Store about the middle of this month, retaining the same store name and continuing with the sale of Morwear paint and a wide variety of wallpapers.

The paint shop was established in February of 1947 by A. T. England, Bowes' uncle, who is retired and living in San Rafael. Bowes took over his uncle's shop in November of 1956 and has operated it ever since.

SIGNS BY JIM, specializing in wood-carved signs, will open this week at 41-B Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park, Ignacio. The lease of the shop was arranged by William Hoey Company.

Onwer of the firm is James F. Doane of Novato, who has been in the sign business for years, operating out of his home for the past two years. In addition to wood-carved signs, Doane offers a full line of commercial lettering services. He is a member of the Marin County Sign Contractors Association.

CHRISTIAN G. FABRE of Mill Valley has been named director of marketing for Latin America by Unicom Systems, a part of the business equipment divisions of Rockwell International, Cupertino. Fabre will be responsible for establishing new distributorships throughout Latin America and servicing present Unicom distributors there.

Rockwell International makes automotive, aerospace, electronics, industrial and utility and consumer products.

MARIN CIRCUITS INC. in Northgate Industrial Park announced the appointment of Gale Williams as manufacturing vice president. Williams, who has about 10 years of experience in electronic work, plans to move to Marin from his Penngrove home.

Marin Circuits Inc., founded almost two years ago by James Ross, makes computers. Ross said company sales continue to increase "because of our demonstrated ability to produce a consistently high quality board regardless of volume."

CENTURY 21 — John Reynolds, Realtor, of San Rafael announced the addition of the following four staff members: Denise Kwee, Russ Martini, Rob Clark, and Ken Vidar.

REBECCA HAWK, landscape designer living in Larkspur, joined the San Francisco office of The Hall and Goodhue Community Design Group, architects and city planners.

A graduate of the University of California in Berkeley, she has been assigned to work on the Sonoma General Plan and on the recreation and clubhouse facility at The Villages, a planned adult community in Santa Clara Valley.

Council Turns Down Boys' Home

Supporting previous action by the Corte Madera Planning Commission, the town council last night denied a permit for a home for delinquent boys.

Voting 4-0, with Joel A. Shawn abstaining for lack of information, turned down Kenneth A. Anderson's request to use a house at 122 Willow Avenue for that purpose.

Anderson, whose firing from Tamalpais High School was recently upheld by a Marin court, and his brother, Bruce, represent Fern Hill School of Boonville, Mendocino County, which could have operated the home. It was to serve as a last stop for troubled youngsters being returned to their homes.

Nearly two hours of public discussion included some brief but fiery exchanges between town staff and Bruce S. Anderson.

Anderson said his organization was unaware of town requirements that a permit was needed for the home and that was why it operated for about six months last year without one.

But thoree times last night William G. McBride, town zoning administrator, methodically outlined how he had personally told Kenneth A. Anderson of the requirement when the home first opened last spring.

McBride subsequently ordered the operation to cease in November and the planning commission denied the permit two months later.

Several persons spoke in opposition to the home and three Corte Maderans not connected with the Fern Hill School spoke in support. The council also received five letters opposing the operation and a petition with the signatures of 57 opponents.

Carl B. Shapiro, attorney for the Andersons, outlined sections of the state welfare and institutions code which he said require communities to accept such homes in residential areas.

"Nothing in the law allows you to turn down this case," he argued. "You can't keep them up in Mendocino County (at the Fern Hill School) or send them to the ghetto because you don't like them."

Bruce S. Anderson then told councilmen that only six boys would be at the home at any one time and they would have at least three adult supervisors on a 24-hour basis. He said his brother would not be the director of the home unless he won court appeal of his firing by the Tamalpais High School District.

Kenneth Anderson sat in the back of the room throughout the hearing but did not speak.

Councilmen were unmoved by the pleas from Bruce Anderson and Shapiro however, and accepted a different interpretation of the law from Town Atty. Albert Bianchi.

Nothing in the law prohibits the council from requiring a permit if it is required uniformly in all zoning areas in the town and the authority to grant permits implies the authority to deny them, he said.

Shawn refused to vote on the matter because he said the Fern Hill School had not provided enough information about the operation of the home.

Bruce Anderson and Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels glared eyeball to eyeball across the council desk as they looked through town files for the information Shawn requested.

Anderson constantly claimed his organization had submitted adequate information, but the councilmen disagreed.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

APPEAL — Delayed until March 18 at the request of Donald Pipkin his appeal of a planning commission denial of a use permit for an existing home deck.

FERRY — Sent the same 18-point statement that went to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission on the filling of the Muzzi property to the Army Corps of Engineers. Councilmen included a request that project drawing on public notices of fill permits before the corps be more specific.

CENTER — Sent to the corps the council's objections outlined at their last meeting over the corp's environmental impact report on the proposed Hahn regional shopping center.

ART — Declared March "Youth Art Month" at the request of the Reed School District for its month-long art program.

PERSONNEL — Adopted a lengthy personnel ordinance which is designed along the lines of the League of California Cities model regulations and spells out many existing town policies.

REPORT — Updated town ordinances on environmental impact report requirements to conform to new state law.

PROJECTS — Accepted as complete a paving job on Lucky Drive and sewer repair project in the Redwood Avenue area.

PARK — Accepted a contract with People at Play of Berkeley for construction of a mini park on El Camino Drive. The project is not to exceed $3,500 so no bidding on the contract was required.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to March 18 at 7:30 p.m. in town hall.

Female Cycle Jumper Hurt

UPLAND (UPI) — Motorcycle stunt rider Debbie Lawler Sunday broke three spinal vertebrae in an Evel Knievel-style jump over 15 cars at Ontario Motor Speedway. She was reported in good condition today.

It was the first time Miss Lawler, 21, of Phoenix, a former fashion model, had been injured. A 30-mile-per hour wind shoved her off course during the 104-foot flight, and she came off the cycle on landing, sliding and bouncing 150 feet into a wall.
